I was first a member of Co. B, 3rd Ind. Cav. I was then transferred to Co. "E" of the same Regt. I was personally acquainted with the said Lafayette Brock. I saw him when he was struck by a bursting shell in the battle of Antietam, or Sharpsburg in 1862 on Sept. 17th. I was on a wooden bridge spanning Antietam Creek. The Enemy had several pieces of artillery trained on us and the shells were flying thick and fast when we arrived on the Bridge. Falling horse and men, a Colonel was killed and I do not know how many more were killed or wounded. A piece of shell or the force of a bursting shell threw said Lafayette Brock from his saddle a few feet in the air and there fell on the Bridge floor. I was about 100 feet from him in his rear. The bridge was choked of horses and men, then we galloped across and took our position. I did not see him after that in the Army as I remember. A week after that I was taken with typhoid fever, and he was wounded, not fatally, discharged. The next time I saw him was in 1867 or 1868 at Corydon, Harrison County, he was then hard of hearing as said in said case, and I learning was since the explosion of the shell in his vicinity. I saw several times after 1868 and saw him frequently. I have not seen him at other times in the last few years, but was here on a visit at several different times. I noticed he had increasing deafness. He was a good and faithful soldier.

He was not hard of hearing before we got hurt with the exploding shell.

I further declare that I have no interest in said claim and am not concerned in its prosecution.

speaking before civic and commercial bodies, is known for his dynamic delivery of basic truths. He will speak here on "The Japs and the Pacific War Fronts."

With American troops now stationed on practically every continent, DeLoss Walker looks to business—as much as to unity and morale—for a complete victory. It happens that he has spent considerable time in the present Pacific theater of war. He was an athletic instructor in China for several years and made many excursions into Japan to study the country and people. He speaks authoritatively on what we may expect in the present war.

His study of American problems has carried him into every corner of America. For eight years he was Associate Editor of Liberty Magazine. He has made over 4,000 addresses and many broadcasts.

No admission charge will be made for the afternoon program to be held in the high school building, according to Floyd Smith, principal.

Light Rains To Continue

Topeka, Sept. 29, (AP)—Soaking rains benefited eastern and south central Kansas last night, boosting fall pastures and late sorghum crops. Downpours ranged up to 4.80 inches precipitation at Coffeyville.

Light rain continued in the east and extreme south today. Mild temperatures will linger, Weatherman S. D. Flora said.

Independence measured 3.60 inches rainfall, Pittsburg 1.52, Oswego 2.45, Parsons 2.08, Chanute 1.95, Iola 1.21, Burlington 1.02, Elmdale 1.40, Wichita .76, Geneseo .45, Arkansas City 1.61 and Topeka .42.

Rainfall in the west, where fields are becoming very dry, was too light and scattered to be much benefit, Flora reported.

Moisture is needed now to put the ground in shape for wheat planting, western planters say they are sowing wheat in the dust.

Fitzpatrick, Ponca City, Okla.; two brothers, Emsley Williams, Phoenix, Ariz., Andy Williams, Trenton, Neb.; two sisters, Mrs. Bell Brown, Trenton, Neb., Mrs. George Weaver, Gravette, Ark., and seven grandchildren.

Services will be held at 2:00 p. m. Friday in the Waugh Funeral Home. Interment will be in the Moran cemetery.

Senator Capper (R.-Kas.), whose party affiliations are directly opposite to Helvering's Democratic connections, said nevertheless, "the president could have made no better choice among the Democrats of Kansas."

"He will make a good judge," Capper declared.

Rep. Frank Carlson, (R.-Kas.), was host at a luncheon for Helvering at which Democratic federal office holders from Kansas and Republican members of congress from Kansas attended.

Rep. Clifford Hope, mentioning the 10-year-long term Helvering served as commissioner of internal revenue, added:

"Certainly no other collector has collected as much taxes. I hope we never will have a commissioner who will exceed this record."

Judge Helvering said he would leave Washington for Topeka in two weeks.

ALLEN Co. NEWS
WED. Oct 6, 1943

First degree murder charges were filed against Osborn Monday morning by County Attorney Spencer Gard. Preliminary hearing will be held in county court October 11. He will not be released on bond.

The shooting occurred as Holmes, Osborn and several other men were walking along an alley between the hog pens at the pavilion. Holmes was just about ready to begin selling hogs. Witnesses told Sheriff Homer Troxel there had been no argument between the two men but that Osborn had suddenly whipped out a .38 caliber revolver and fired two shots. One struck Holmes in the back and the other went wild.

Holmes walked for some distance along the pens before he fell to the ground. Four of the witnesses to the shooting grabbed Osborn after the shooting and took the revolver from him and held him until peace officers arrived.

Holmes was taken to the St. John Hospital and died there two hours later.

Rumblings of mob violence spread through the crowd of between 700 and 800 persons at the sales pavilion so the officers removed Osborn from Iola to an undisclosed jail.

Osborn has made no statement regarding the shooting and when formally charged Monday seemed to be more concerned about the stock at his farm near Humboldt and securing a new supply of medicine like he had been using than he was with the charges.

Osborn has lived in and near Iola and Humboldt for several years and recently advertised for sales to cry.

Mr. Holmes is survived by his wife; one son, Leroy Holmes, of LeRoy; twin daughters, Mrs. Jesse Ilene Reed and Miss Georgia Irene Holmes, both of Topeka; two brothers, and one sister.

Tractor Plow Terrace Demonstration

A tractor plow terracing demonstration will be held at the Harry Hay farmstead, October 12, at 1:30 p.m.

The public is invited to visit the Hay farm which is located 2 miles north and 4¾ miles east of Carlyle. The Allen County Soil Conservation Service, under the direction of Pat Crews, will lay out the terraces and will supervise the terracing.

The demonstration will consist of measuring and staking the terraces as well as showing the public how to build a terrace. Therefore, we are hoping and looking for a large crowd at the demonstration.

Fire Prevention Week, October 3-9

Iola has been practicing fire prevention for a long time but in keeping with Fire Prevention Week, October 3 to 9, the Iola fire department under Ray Chard, chief, is making a complete inspection of the Iola business district.

The inspection is for the purpose of detecting fire hazards and elimination of teh same.

The fire department can not totally save or in any way replace a house that is consumed by flames before the department is notified. But all citizens can work with the fire department in the elimination of fire hazards.

IOLAN WHO SPENT 11 DAYS ON RAFT LIKES BEING A SAILOR AND ASPIRES TO BECOME AN OFFICER

In last week's issue of the Collifers, Jim Marshall tells how Patrick O'Brien of Iola and five other cadet-midshipmen, wearing the anchor insignia of the deck department, were greeted by Capt. Giles C. Stedman, commandant of cadets at Kings Point, upon their return from six months training in merchant vessels.

O'Brien trained at the United States merchant marine academy at Kings Point, Long Island.

"Most of them had looked at death and blood and disaster—and grim-lipped heroism," writes Marshall. "Some had helped fight smoking guns aboard Liberty ships and C-3s. All had been tempered and hardened in the rough school of the sea. They stood straight and brown and sinewy, and the muscles rippled under the khaki. The captain looked at them with a touch of pride; they were veterans of the sea.

"Patrick O'Brien?" he said. "They call you Paddy, I'd supose?"

"Pat, sir."

"Welcome back to the academy. Have a good time during your six months at sea? Learn something?"

"Yes, sir. Learned how to live 11 days on a raft, for one thing."

"How was that?"

"Well, sir, our ship was torpedoed and a few of us got onto this raft and drifted around in the South Atlantic a while. Coast patrol plane picked us up eventually. We got pretty thirsty. I lost twenty pounds, sir."

"Got it back, though, I see, O'Brien. Find life at sea a bit different from Iola, Kansas?"

"Yes, sir—but I like it. I want to learn more here at the academy and go on and become an officer. Maybe some day a four-striper like you, sir."

"That's the spirit, O'Brien."

Sgt. Katherine Bone returned Friday to Philadelphia after visiting relatives here.

Mrs. Caleb Anderson, who has been ill for several weeks, is reported improving. She was brought to the home of her parents from the hospital last week.

The Freedom Week, October 1-9

This week has been proclaimed the Freedom week. This proclamation is a long one and we have not room for it in full. It begins with the preamble that the department under the Chief Commissioner of Lands, Mr. Pelton, is making a campaign to get people to settle on the land. The proclamation is in the form of a letter addressed to the Chief Commissioner of Lands by the Minister of Lands, and it goes on to say that the department is anxious to get people on the land, and that it is willing to do everything in its power to assist them. The proclamation then goes on to say that the department is willing to do everything in its power to assist the people who are willing to go on the land, and that it is willing to do everything in its power to assist the people who are willing to go on the land. The proclamation then goes on to say that the department

His wife, Lulu Brock Williams died in Kansas City 26 November 1959
They are both buried in Moran Cemetery.

Leonard Lafayette Brock

Written by Edith Watson:

Leonard had a sixth grade education and worked as a cement plant worker, steam shovel operator, bridge construction overseer, motel manager and machinist. He had a dark complexion and hair and brown eyes. He married Elsie Louise Watson in 1908 and they had eight children. The family moved to Vero Beach, Florida in the early 1920's. Leonard was transferred there by his employer. he worked with the first construction crew hired to drain Florida land. It was at Leonard's suggestion that the first steam shovel was imported into Florida to dig canals. Prior to that thime the canals were dug by hand using shovels. Unfortunately, Leonard caught typhoid fever, and the family suffered financially. Leonard's mother, Sarah Brock, sent money for the family to return to Missouri. Leonard worked in an ice plant making ice in Oskaloosa, Missouri, then moved the family to Iola, Kansas where he worked at a cement plant a few years. From there, the family moved to Mildred, Kansas, where Leonard worked at another cement plant. At this plant Leonard talked his superior into using a dragline shovel instead of digging by hand. In 1931, the family returned to Florida, this time to Brooksville. Leonard worked at a cement plant there until he was laid off during the Great Depression. Unable to find work, the family moved to Perry, Florida, where Leonard designed and supervised the building of bridges for the state under a W.P.A. project. He also built a new gynasium for the high school in Perry. During World War 11, the family lived in Washington, D.C. about a year, then returned to Florida. Leonard worked in Tampa as a shipyard michinist until he became a motel manager. About this time his wife, Elsie, had become very ill with M.D. Elsie did not want to be a burden on her family as she felt her mother had been in her latter years. Although she died of pneumonia, the family believed she wanted to die. She refused to eat for the last few weeks of her life.
Leonard moved to Cincinatti, Ohio and became a machinist in a factory. He lived with friends until he was placed in the county home due to chronic heart failure.

Leonard was the brother of my great grandmother Rebecca Brock Burkett. He was also the husband of my great Aunt Elsie Louise Watson, the sister of my grandmother Erma Watson Burkett. Looking at Leonard's accomplishments, Grandfather Burkett must have inherited his building skills from from the Brock family. hpbs.

Another step in the attempt to have Nellie Lee Emery and Jean Epcry, minors, taken from custody oi" their uncle and .aunt, Charles Emery and Anna Emery, and have them, placed in the care and under the control of the State Board of Charities and Corrsctioris was taken today. Notice was served on .Charles and Anna Emery to appear in circuit court Tuesday. March 19, with the two children and show cause why the latter should not. be taken away from their control.

The movement to have the children placed with the board of charities and corrections came about from investijrntions made by the Moberly Welfare Association. A -week ago the Emerys were cited to appear in circuit court with the children but the day before they were to answer the citation the father of the two Emery children came to Moberly and took the boy and p-irl away with him. It was reported a the time that he intended to place them .in some home elsewhere located.

7 September 1985 - Received a typed note from Elva E. Brock, 2950 West 14th Street, Golden, Colorado 80401
Elva is the wife of Henry Milford Brock, the note gave information regarding Daisy "Joan" Brock Allard, Henry's sister, who had died 28 August 1984.
I had mailed a letter to Joan regarding getting the Giffin Book. Joan's husband, Roy had forwarded my letter to Elva.
Barbara,
Your letter to Jo Allard was forwarded to me in July. Jo died Agu 17, 1984--hert attack. Roy knew I am interested in Giffin-Brock history so he sent it on--no word from him.
My summer has been the most hectic of my life--the cause of my no writing to you sooner. I will fill out what I know on the sheet you sent. Also will be interested in anything you have or obtain. Ruth's son, Bob, and I have exchanged a few bits of history.
Henry, Jo's brother, and I were married over 50 years. He passed away in January 1983. Jo was the last o the Harvey Brock-Rosa Giffin group.
I have the Giffin Book you mentioned--after we bought one I wrote Jo about it but didn't know if she got one.
Have two books on Brock--but not helpful.
Just wanted you to know that I will try to send you the sheet soon. Would enjoy corresponding with you.

enlisted or who subsequently enlisted in one of the six regiments in the South Carolina Continental Line. The soldier had to complete his term of service. If he died during the service, his heirs were to be entitled to the 200 acres.

An ordinance of 26 March 1784 directed the commissioners in the several districts to receive the entry of the respective officers and soldiers of the late South Carolina Continental Line, the officers on the staff, the three independent companies commanded by Captain Bowie and Captain Moore, and the officers of the state navy for the land to which they were entitled. They were to issue warrants of survey and to certify the plats. The Secretary of State prepared the grant, and the governor signed and passed the grant. All of the fees of the commissioners, the Secretary of State, the deputy surveyor, the Surveyor General and his secretary were to be paid by the state.

The South Carolina bounty lands were located on the frontier on the former Cherokee lands in the northwest corner of the state, between the Togolo and Keowee rivers, in present Anderson, Oconee, and Pickens counties. Besides this convenient tract of vacant land, any vacant land in the state could also be selected.

There are four manuscript volumes of bounty land grants in the South Carolina Department of Archives and History. On 19 January 1788, the Surveyor General submitted a report of the fees he had collected for the 477 plats for bounty land he had issued from July 1784. His fee for each plat was £0.12.2. The Secretary, Peter Freneaux, collected 10 shillings for each grant. An index to the bounty land grantees first appeared as "Historical Notes: Bounty Grants to Revolutionary Soldiers," South Carolina Historical and Genealogical Magazine, VII (1906): 173–78 and 217–24. Abstracts in a single alphabetical series appear in Tony Draine and John Skinner's Revolutionary War Bounty Land Grants in South Carolina (Columbia, S.C.: Congaree Publications, 1986). All of the these sources have been compared to obtain the best possible interpretation.

Virginia

The Commonwealth of Virginia was extremely generous in its bounty land program. Virginia was not only the largest of the Thirteen Colonies in area but also in population. The Old Dominion awarded bounty lands to soldiers and sailors or their heirs who served in either the State or Continental Line Revolutionary forces. Most of the bounty lands were located in the Military Districts in Kentucky and Ohio. No bounty lands were located within the present boundaries of either Virginia or West Virginia. The Virginia troops who served in the Illinois Regiment under George Rogers Clark are treated below in the section Virginia—Indiana.

The formula for awarding bounty lands to Virginia soldiers and sailors was:

sailor who served out his three year enlistment or served to the end of the war	100 acres
noncommissioned officer who enlisted and served out his three year enlistment	200 acres
sailor who served throughout the war	400 acres
soldier who served throughout the war	400 acres
noncommissioned officer who served throughout the war	400 acres
subaltern—cornet	2000 to 2666 acres
subaltern—ensign	2000 to 2666 acres
subaltern—ieutenant	2000 to 2666 acres
surgeon's mate	2666 to 8000 acres
surgeon	2666 to 8000 acres
captain	3000 to 4666 acres
major	4000 to 5333 acres
lieutenant colonel	4500 to 6666 acres
colonel	5000 to 8888 acres
brigadier general	10,000 acres upward
major general	15,000 to 17,500 acr

For any officer, sailor, or soldier who died or was killed in service, his h or legal representatives were entitled to receive the same quantity of l which a surviving veteran received.

There are far more Virginia entries than veterans because the referen are to the certificates themselves. A veteran may have had multiple cer cates for various reasons. In recording certificate numbers, the clerk so times re-used a number. When a veteran lost the original certificate, a r one with the same number had to be reissued. If the original certificate c tained an error, it was necessary to issue a new one. The new certific known as an exchange warrant, most commonly existed when there w mistake in the acreage or in the names of the heirs. Finally, multiple warr could be obtained in smaller acreages as long as the total acreage equalled allotment to which the veteran was entitled. The date in each entry is r mally the date of the certificate; in its absence, the date is that of the warr

Virginia's first military district was south of the Green River in Kentu The area encompassed in it ran along a line from the head of the Green R to the Cumberland Mountains, to the North Carolina line, to the Tenne River, to the Ohio River, and back to the Green River. Prior to 1797 no except a soldier could enter a survey in the district. The Kentucky bo land warrants appear in Samuel M. Wilson's Catalogue of Revolutio Soldiers and Sailors of the Commonwealth of Virginia to Whom Land Bo Warrants Were Granted by Virginia for Military Services in the War for I pendence (Baltimore, Md.: Genealogical Publishing Company, 1977). son arranged his book in quasi-alphabetical order by the initial letter of surname. Each entry consists of the name of the veteran, his assignee or at law where appropriate, warrant number, acreage, rank, whether Conti tal or State Line or Navy, number of years of service, and date of warrar would appear that all of the bounty land grants in Kentucky had been made by 1798.

The second Virginia military district was in Ohio, bounded by the Ohio River on the south, the Scioto River on the east, and the Little Miami River on the west. It opened in 1790 when the Kentucky Reserve was used up. It contained 4,204,800 acres and included all or portions of the following Ohio counties: Adams, Brown, Champaign, Clark, Clermont, Clinton, Delaware, Fayette, Franklin, Greene, Hamilton, Hardin, Highland, Logan, Madison, Marion, Pickaway, Ross, Scioto, Union, and Warren. In his Federal Land Series, volume IV, parts 1 and 2, Clifford Neal Smith has treated Grants in the Virginia Military District of Ohio (Chicago, Ill.: American Library Association, 1982–86). He indicated that a third volume would be needed to complete the Virginia Military District records, but this has not yet been published.

Gaius M. Brumbaugh's Revolutionary War Records in Virginia, Virginia Army and Navy Forces, with Bounty Land Warrants for Virginia, Military District of Ohio, and Virginia Military Script (Baltimore, Md.: Genealogical Publishing Co., 1967) and Louis A. Burgess's three-volume set, Virginia Soldiers of 1776 Compiled from Documents . . . in the Virginia Land Office (Baltimore, Md.: Clearfield Company, Inc., 1994) contains much relevant data about Virginia's bounty lands. The latter is especially rich in genealogical data documenting proof of relationships from the bounty land files in the Archives Division of the Virginia State Library.

In 1852 the federal government allowed all claims to Virginia land warrants issued before that year to be exchanged for scrip. It was the last attempt to honor the 1781 Virginia act by which Virginia had ceded its western lands to the federal government on the condition that Virginia would be able to satisfy its promises of bounty lands. Margie G. Brown's Genealogical Abstracts Revolutionary War Veterans Scrip Act 1852 (Decorah, Ia.: The Anundsen Publishing Co., 1990), abstracts the genealogical data of the 1,689 files created in response to the act. If the warrants were still in the possession of descendants, the files contain powers of attorney, wills, affidavits of heirship, proof of service, and correspondence from heirs. By 1852 the heirs of veterans were children, grandchildren, and even great-grandchildren.

While the Virginia entries in this index represent only the approved applications, there were numerous applications for bounty land which the Commonwealth of Virginia rejected. Frequently the applications were disallowed because the applicant failed to comply with the minimum period of service. In other cases, however, it would seem that there were simply no living witnesses who could attest to the service. Abstracts of the rejected bounty land files appear in William Lindsay Hopkins's Virginia Revolutionary War Land Grant Claims 1783–1850 (Rejected) (Richmond, Va.: the author, 1988).

Virginia—Indiana

On 2 January 1781, the General Assembly of Virginia adopted a resol which provided that the officers and soldiers who served in the Illinois l ment under Colonel George Rogers Clark be allowed a quantity of land r exceed 150,000 acres, to be laid off in one tract, the length not to ex twice the breadth in such a place on the north side of the Ohio River a majority of the officers should choose. It was to be divided among the diers and officers in due proportions according to the laws of Virginia. law applied not only to those who had marched into the area with Co Clark but also to those officers and soldiers who had since been incorpo into the Illinois Regiment. The General Assembly passed another act in to implement the resolution. Appointed as a board of commissioners t ceive the claims were William Fleming, John Edwards, John Campbell, W Daniel, gentlemen; and George Rogers Clark, John Montgomery, Abra Chaplin, John Bailey, Robert Todd, and William Clark, officers in the Ill Regiment. The board of commissioners was to govern itself by the al ances made by law to the officers and soldiers of the Continental Army

The land selected was on the north side of the Ohio River in Clark, F and Scott counties, Indiana. Primarily the grant was in Clark County.

Meeting at Louisville on 3 August 1784, the board refined the definiti eligibility for bounty. The board ruled that all officers and soldiers who mar and continued in service until the reduction of the British posts on the r side of the Ohio River and all who engaged and enlisted in the Illinois F ment afterwards and who served during the war or for three years qual for bounty land. Soldiers who enlisted in the regiment after 2 January for three years were not eligible. Officers of the regiment were entitled share of the land in proportion to the commissions they held on 2 Jan 1781 and not in consequence of any subsequent promotion. Officers com sioned after 2 January 1781 were not entitled at all. Those soldiers enlisted to serve twelve months after their arrival at Kaskaskia for the pr tion and defense of the Illinois country and who did not re-enlist in the ment were likewise disqualified. Officers who were commissioned unde act and resigned before the expiration of the twelve months were also i gible. Those officers who continued during the year and then retired having a command, were eligible.

On 10 October 1787 the Board of Commissioners extended coverag the officers and soldiers who were left at the falls on the Ohio River by c of Colonel Clark when the detachment was going against the Illinois Ind The failure to locate the name of a soldier who served under George Rc Clark in the Illinois or Clark Grant is due to the fact that the service under Clark in his later campaigns against the Indians. Such service dic qualify for bounty in the Clark Grant.

The entries to the Clark Grant bounty land grantees are taken from V iam Haden English's Conquest of the Country Northwest of the River C

1. HENRY[6] BROCK (HEINRICH HENRY BRACK[5], HANSS MICHEL[4] BRACK, HANSS CONRAD[3], CASPER[2], HEINI[1])[1] was born Abt. 1747 in Forrestville, Augusta, Virginia, and died January 1822 in Louisville, Jefferson, Kentucky. He married CHRISTINA UNKNOWN Abt. 1782 in Shenandoah County, Virginia.

Notes for HENRY BROCK:
This information from "A Brock Family History" Swiss Brack American Brock by Robert L. Brock. Listed in the Library of Congress Catalog Card Number 92-74390, Published by Gateway Press, Inc., 1001 N. Calvert St., Baltimore, MD 21202.

On pages 7 and 8 the author states, Henry married about 1782 in Shenandoah Co, VA to Christina Unknown. Some researchers believe the wife, Christina, to be a Funkhouser, but we have found no proof. Henry moved to Washington County, VA ca 1788 and about 13 years later mover to Jefferson County, KY.

Information from Ms. Pat Butler, Fall of 2001.
Henry is listed in 1785 in Shenandoah County census as head of a family of four. He probably had 100 acres of land, the entry date is November 15, 1778. The property was in Rockingham County, now Pendleton County, West Virginia lying on the mountain between the south branch and the north fork of the Potomac River. His military record states that he stayed with friends in Shenandoah County in 1776 or early 1778. The last record of him there was his marriage to Christina about 1782.

The record of Henry in Washington County, Virginia lists a survey on September 15, 1788, for 50 acres on Walker Mountain (bought from brother George), watered by the waters of Bever Creek, a branch of the North Fork of the Holston River, Washington County, Virginia. Henry received the grant on November 4, 1800. The last record of him there is the sale of property in 1801.

The first appearance of Henry Brock in Kentucky is in the Jefferson County Court records dated 1807. He is believed to have arrived between 1801 and 1802. He lived there until his death. Henry is listed in the 1810 and 1820 census there. Henry applied for pension based on his Revolutionary War service while living 10 miles outside of Louisville, 1821. In it he stated that three daughters over 21 and three sons, the youngest 18 and the oldest 24, were living at home. The pension was granted January 30, 1822. After serving his county faithfully, he was given an honorable discharge at the close of the war, and returned to civil pursuits, where he had since lived an honorable and upright life. Mr. Brock was in every way an ideal citizen. His honesty and integrity were never questioned by those who knew him and he enjoyed the confidence and esteem of all with whom he came in contact. For many years, he had been a member of the Christian Church and had lived a life in keeping with his profession. He was a big of heart, a devoted husband and affectionate father. The funeral service was held at the Brock home Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock by Rev. Levi Marshall, pastor of the Christian Church, and the body was interred in Newton Burial Park. This is consistant with the German naming pattern--At baptism, a child was given two given names, the first given name was a spiritual or saint's name, originally developed from Roman Catholic tradition and continued by the Protestants in their baptismal naming customs. The second given name was the secular or call name, which is the name the person was known by, both within the family and to this rest of the world.

Bible Thought For Today

And they that be wise shall shine as the brightness of the firmament and they that turn many to righteousness as the stars for ever and ever.—Daniel 12:2.

PIG IN A POKE

A distinguished commission of Kansans is currently at work studying our 100-year-old constitution and the possible need for its revision. It is to report its findings prior to the regular session of the legislature next January.

There is every probability that the commission will find more things wrong with the ancient document than you can shake a stick at. It will have a pot full of ideas as to how it could be altered to provide a better framework for modern state government.

But when its study is finally completed, it will face this very practical question:

Shall it recommend the calling of a constitutional convention upon the score that the rewriting of the entire document can all needed changes be accomplished?

Or shall it forget minor weaknesses, concentrate on half a dozen changes it feels to be really vital, and recommend that they be submitted to the people as individual amendments in the conventional manner?

* * *

I wouldn't guess which course the commission will take. But I think I can predict what the legislature will do. It will discard the idea of a constitutional convention and consider proposed amendments only on a one-at-a-time basis.

And it will be well advised to do so in this paper's opinion.

There are two big reasons. One is that it isn't necessary; anything that really needs to be done CAN be done one amendment at a time. The other is that it would be almost impossible to "sell" the idea of a constitutional convention to the people.

Here's why:

* * *

The present constitution has a single, short paragraph providing for the calling of a constitutional convention. The legislature first must agree to the proposal by two-thirds vote, then submit it to the people at the next general election.

If the people approve it, then, says the constitution, "the legislature shall provide for calling the same."

That's all. Not one word as to where or when it shall be called, how its delegates shall be chosen, what areas or interests they shall represent, what agenda they shall follow, how long they shall have to complete their task—nothing.

It would be the biggest pig in a poke any electorate was ever asked to buy. There would be no answer to ANY of the questions a voter would be entitled to ask. There wouldn't be the faintest guarantee that any of the constitutional improvements sought would actually be incorporated in the new draft.

Indeed, there would be no guarantee that the convention itself wouldn't be rigged to perpetuate the selfish interests of groups already dominant in the legislature. Why not? If they have the power now, why should they constitute a convention in such a way as to risk having that power taken away?

It is not difficult to sell a single amendment of merit either to the legislature or to the people. Sixty amendments have been put on ballots in the course of the state's history. Forty of them have passed. A single amendment is something you can get your teeth into, explain, and vote on intelligently.

But a constitutional convention which would scrap the whole constitution upon which our law is based, start at scratch again, and produce heaven knows what—well, all I can say is that I'd hate to have the job of trying to sell that idea to the voters of Iola and Allen County.

* * *

THE BIGGER DANGER

Here is an interesting item in connection with how automobile accidents happen:

In Kansas last year, there were 25,000 accidents and 300 deaths caused by collisions between two motor vehicles.

But there were 5,424 accidents and 175 deaths caused by one-car affairs in which the driver simply ran off the road, overturned his car, or smacked into a fixed object like a bridge abutment or telephone pole.

Note that the number of deaths was almost precisely the same in each category.

The moral is plain: If you want to save a mashed fender, look out for the other car. If you want to save your neck, look out for your own carelessness or recklessness or stupidity.

The best chance to get killed is to do it all by yourself.

Ann Landers...

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann: Recently I married a man with a 16-year-old son by a former marriage. The boy never had any discipline and has no sense of responsibility.

He goes out every night — to movies or riding with his friends. This city has a curfew which he ignores. He must get up at 7:00 a. m. for school. Sometimes I have to shake him for 20 minutes to get him out of bed in the morning. He brings home failing marks in every subject.

He smokes a pack of cigarettes a day and his father gives him $7 a week spending money. He doesn't do one thing in the house or out—he won't even pick up his clothes.

When I speak to him he ignores me. His father backs him up in everything. I'm fighting a losing battle but maybe if you print this letter and some advice, it will do some good. What is the best way to help a boy keep his feet on the ground?—L.S.M.

The best way to help a boy keep his feet on the ground is to place some responsibility on his shoulders.

Parents who have an honest relationship with their children don't try to buy them off with spending money and permission to roam the streets at night. You and your husband will be held responsible if the boy is picked up after curfew. You should be surprised if you are hauled into the station one of these days.

A child who has been irresponsible for 16 years can't be transformed into a dependable, useful, self-respecting human being in a week or two. It takes professional help to undo the years of damage. He needs to be de-educated and resocialized, and this is no 50¢ for amateurs. Good luck to all of you.

Dear Ann: My husband's sister has brought her boy friend to our house for dinner every Sunday for the past nine years. This means they have enjoyed 936 free meals, between the two of them.

We have been invited to her house twice. Once when her boss gave her a turkey for Christmas, and again when her boy friend shot a pheasant. (It was so gamey and full of buckshot that we couldn't eat it, so we settled for peanut butter and jelly sandwiches.)

When I was in the hospital recently, this sister-in-law didn't invite my husband over for a single meal! The more I think of it the madder I get. My husband says if I call a halt to the Sunday dinners after nine years, it will mean the end of our friendship. He says I should say nothing and continue to be a good egg. What do you say?—LOTTIE.

Did he say a good egg? You'd be cracked to tolerate this lopsided hospitality arrangement forever.

Suggest to your husband that he take you out to dinner the next few Sundays. This will serve to break up the nine-year pattern. If your sister-in-law is so dense that she fails to take the hint, then spell out the news that the soup kitchen is closed.

Dear Ann: I'm a boy, 22, and have been dating a nice girl for two months. She's been telling everyone we're "serious" and wants me to meet her aunts and uncles and cousins. Her mother has a diamond which she offered for an engagement ring and her uncle who is a jeweler will mount it for only $40.

I'm in no position to get married and even if I were I'm not sure this girl would be the one. I told her I like her a lot. But it's part of the line a fellow just naturally hands out to any girl he goes with. How can I keep his friendship without getting in over my head?—G.B.

Sampson slew 1,000 Philistines with the jawbone of an ass. Ever since that time, the jawbone has been a popular weapon of destruction. Apparently your jawbone has been working over time. Bub—so watch it. If it's just her friendship you want, play it straight and say so.

CONFIDENTIAL: JEFF: Your mother is foolish to waste her time on a married man. Some things are worse than "being lonely" as she will one day learn —first hand.

Dear Barbara:

You will be surprised to hear from me. I have been going through the papers and forms left over from my work on the Goerke genealogy and I came across this extra copy of a family picture that I thought you might be able to use in trying to learn more about Elizabeth and her back ground. Caroline was Elizabeth's grandmother, Conrad was her father, Charles my father. I never saw Elizabeth, she was some younger than I - they lived in OK, we in KS. As you may remember I was working on a genealogy of the Goerke family. I found Conrad's family the most difficult to trace - some things I had to give up on. Family records were lost in moving. Carolyn (Goerke) Metzer is the only family member still alive and her health is not good so she was little help. Her daughter Gloria was great to help - when I finally was able to locate her - but of course being younger had to rely on what she remembered. Getting to know Gloria through letters and phone calls has helped me a lot.

How are you getting along with your Brock genealogy.? Thank you again for what you sent me - I would have had nothing without it. Are you still working on it. I have put mine together and have mailed out copies to family members. I hurried it too much - but I will soon be 91 - so I felt better put together what I had instead of leaving all the information I had gathered in bits and pieces and leave it for someone else to try to put together - or give up and toss it into the trash. So I had 25 copies made and mailed them to those who were most interested. Then I got requests for second copies from two - that I felt were really important so I had 5 more copies made - and sent out two copies - I know where a 3rd copy will go - and there are places I could send the other two (and I will NOT make more copies - of course people can borrow copies and make others). Since I started this letter I have wondered if you would like a copy to get a better background about Elizabeth - and if Beth or Steve ever make themselves known - you could pass it on to which ever wants it. I have saved the letter you sent with the hint of tragedy for Beth - hoping maybe someway things could be solved. I feel so sorry about Beth - she needs help -

Now for some questions:

1- Do you know where Elizabeth was born? I know it was in Kansas - that uncle Conrad moved his family from Blackwell for a while - then back to Blackwell. Not too important -

Have you been able to contact either Beth or Steve. If important I

2- I would like to know what.

When I started this genealogy - I had never even dreamed what was involved. I didn't know how to get started. Had never heard about A family Group Sheet until I received one from you - then I went out and bought some - sure could have saved myself and others a lot of time and effort if I had known about them earlier. I learned a lot about getting material and did come out pretty well - I guess. The only picture I have of Elizabeth is the one of her HS graduation - that you sent me. I have just decided that if you read my Genealogy you may find that you have information that I was not able to get - so maybe my offer is because I may learn things that I can add to my work - for of course a genealogy is never complete. Let me know if you would like a copy - no charge - all I would ask in return is whatever information you have that I do not have. If anyone wants information on putting together a genealogy - my advice don't wait until you are 89 to begin.

Hope all is well with you, Edna (Goerke) Alton

BURKET(T) BACKGROUND

Some background on the derivations of the Burket name:

In England, the Burket name came from the Old English "Burgheard", composed of the elements burh, burg (fort) + heard, which translates to hardy, brave, strong.

The name was reintroduced into Middle English by the Normans, in the forms Bou(r)chart and Bocard; in addition to the many other variants.

In the form Burkhard it was a very popular German name. There has been considerable confusion between this English surname and Birkett. Variations include: Burkitt, Burkart, Borkett, Bockett, Buckett, Burchatt, Burchard, Butchard and Budgett.

Cognations: German: Burghard(t), Bur(c)khard(t), Burchert. Low German: Borchard(t), Borchert, Borgert, Borghard(t). Flemish: Burkart, Bourchaert. French: Bourcard, Bourcart, Bou(r)chard. Italian: Boccardi, Bocc(h)iardi, Broccardi.

Diminutives: German: Buck, Burk(el), Birkle, Burkli, Busse, Bosse. Patronymic: Low German: Borchers, Borcherding.

The French name Bouchard is first recorded in Haute Savoie in the early 18th century. A certain Jean-Antoine Bouchard went from there to Pondicherry in India in 1757, and about 1788 he or his son Maurice changed their family name to La Bouchardiere, and the family became well established in British India. There does not seem to be any direct connection with either of the places named Bouchardiere in Normandy. Another supposition is that a forefather from the town of Bourguet in France moved to Britain. Bourguet means a "small stronghold or fort".

Here are some leads when looking for ancestors of William Wesley Burket:

Richard Burket (labourer) arrived in Jamestown, Virginia on the first supply ship, 2 January 1608. Richard Burket (Adventurer, Original Planter, Labourer) arrived in Jamestown on the second supply ship arriving in 1608. (B0026R25) William Burket (Adventurer, Labourer) arrived in Jamestown in 1608 (B0004108).

> Note: The three individuals mentioned above may well have been victims in the Indian Massacre of Jamestown on 22 March 1622.

Henry Burket, born about 1601, departed London in 1635, bound for Jamestown (B0004108). We found no record of his arrival in Jamestown.

Some possible ancestors from the Revolutionary War could be: Frederick Burket (S3102-25461) of Jonesboro, Greene County, TN, who was a Pvt. in Capt. Smith's Company, Col. Moffat's Regt. Sgt. Uriah Burkett (R203316) was in Capt. Rhodes Co., NC Line.

Henry Burkhart (S8127) of Smythe County, VA, was a Pvt. in Capt. Snasse (?) Company, Col. Campbell's Regiment. Ephriam Burket (4674), was a Pvt in SC.

John Birkett (4677,8) was a Pvt. from Matross County, SC. Thomas Burket (4680,1) was a Pvt. in a SC Regiment. Joseph Burket (4682) was a Pvt. in the 1st SC Regiment.

Peter Burket (4683) was a Sgt. In the 4th Continental Artillery. Samuel Burkett (4684) VA Co. Abraham Burket was in Co. C, 8th TN Cavalry. James Burket was in Co. F, 8th TN Cavalry.

Joel Burket, was in Co. E, 2nd TN Infantry. Joseph Burket was in Co. E, 2nd TN Infantry. Ralph Burket was in Co. I, 9th TN Cavalry.

And the above listing is just a small sampling of the Burket's that were in the area at a time when they could have been William Wesley's father. We have high hopes of locating the family of William Wesley on our next visit to Tennessee.

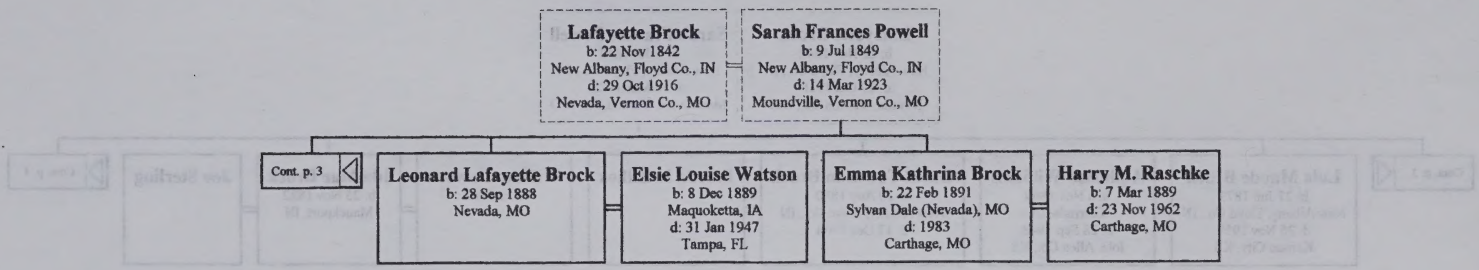
Descendants of Sarah Frances Powell & Lafayette Brock (4 of 4)



LAFAYETTE BROCK
1842 – 1916
SARAH FRANCES POWELL

Thanks to Robert L. Brock's "A Brock Family History" (LC 92-74390) Lafayette's line has been traced all the way back to Heini Brack in Boezen, Kanton Aargau, Switzerland in 1580! The family lived a few generations in Germany before migrating to America, where the spelling of the name changed to the phonetically-correct Brock about 1740. Lafayette was a ninth-generation descendent of Heini Brack. Heini's grandson Hanss (John) Brock arrived in New York City in 1715, moving to an area in the Cumberland Valley of Virginia, later known as 'Brock's Gap'. (A few miles West of New Market, VA.) An impressive monolith 'gate' called "Chimney Rock" guards the gap through the Blue Ridge Mountains a mere five miles from West Virginia. A small alluvial plain just west of the 'gate' is where the Brocks settled. Nearby in Forestville is an old grist mill built by George Brock ca. 1750. Follow the water-wheel trough from lower center toward the back of the house, and you can just make out the water-wheel. (We should add this area was extremely far West for that time frame, when most Europeans were living East of Richmond.) Descendants then moved on to Kentucky, where Lafayette's father John was born, then on to Indiana, where Lafayette Brock was born in New Albany, Indiana, just across the Ohio River from Louisville, Kentucky.

'Lafe' joined the Third Cavalry Regiment of the Indiana Mounted Volunteers, a Division of the Union Army, on the 4th of July, 1861 in Corydon, Indiana, when he was 19 years old. Corydon is on the Ohio River, downstream a few miles from Louisville. By July 22nd, his Company had moved to Madison, Indiana (upriver, midway between Cincinnati and Louisville). We should point out that the South side of the Ohio River was Confederate Territory.

In 1862 'Lafe' participated in several battles, the one affecting him the most was at Antietem, (near Harper's Ferry, WV). On September 18, 1862, a Confederate shell exploded nearby as he was crossing the Antietem bridge. The concussion knocked him from his horse, and he was left for dead in a ditch with numerous men and horses. (His Colonel was killed in the explosion.) It wasn't until troops returned to recover the dead, it was discovered he was still alive. The explosion left him deaf in his right ear, and mostly deaf in the left ear for the balance of his life.

This is a brief recap of the Battle of Antietem: "On the single day of September 18, 1862, some 23,000 Americans were reported missing, killed,

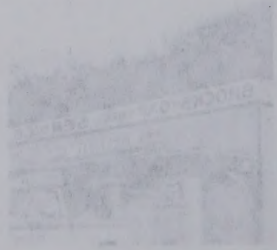
Thanks to Robert L. Brock's "A Brock Family History" (LC 92-73360) Lafayette's line has been traced all the way back to Peter Brock in Pocahontas County, Virginia, Switzerland, in 1500? The family lived a few generations in Germany before emigrating to America, where the spelling of the name changed to the phonetically-correct Brock.



about 1760 Lafayette's grandfather was a ninth-generation descendant of Hans Brock. Hans's grandson Hans (John) Brock arrived in New York City in 1715, moving to an area in the Cumberland Valley of Virginia.

or wounded near the Dunker Church and Bloody Lane. It was the bloodiest single day encounter in the entire Civil War. Confederate Troops were determined to hold the road. After the battle it was stated a man could walk from one end of the road to the other, as far as he could see, and step on the bodies of Confederate Soldiers the entire route. The road is still known as 'Bloody Lane'."

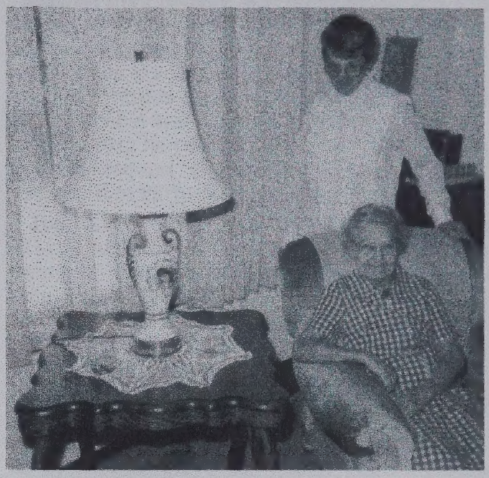
On following pages are copies of 'Lafe's Muster Rolls. Note that after the Battle at Antietem he was assigned duty as a "Muleteer in the Quartermaster Department", and in May of 1863 he was a "Regimental Teamster". 'Lafe' was discharged August 31, 1864 in Indianapolis.

Two years after his discharge, on October 22, 1866, Lafayette and Sarah Frances Powell were married "by Rev. Boring, a Methodist" in Floyd County Indiana. Sarah was born in the same town in Indiana as 'Lafe' almost seven years later.

Both of her parents were of German descent, and Sarah spoke German. Her mother was Sarah Jane Christison. It is said that she inherited property in Germany, but did not want to return to the 'old country' to claim it. We found this battered and rusty old tintype in Rebecca Elizabeth Burket's belongings, and while we have no proof, it is likely the image of Sarah Christison.

'Lafe' and Sarah had 13 children! The first five were born near Lanesville, Harrison County, Indiana; Anna Drusilla in 1867, Titus in 1869 was miscarried when Sarah fired a gun. Polly Diliah in 1870. Louis in 1872, and Maggie in 1873, both died in infancy. Rebecca Elizabeth was the first child born in Corydon, Harrison County, Indiana in 1874. Harvey Harrison in 1875. Milford Milligan in 1877. Lula Maude in 1879. David Townson in 1880 was the last child born in Corydon. Ida Mae was born in 1882 in Maukport, Indiana. Leonard Lafayette in 1888 was the first child born in Nevada, Missouri. And Emma Cathrina, born in 1890 was their last child.

In the 1870 Census, 'Lafe's occupation was 'Farmer', with real estate valued at $5000, and $200 in personal property. It has been said that he worked in the coal mines in Southern Indiana. So many of his neighbors got drunk every payday squandering their pay, that he became a passionate prohibitionist. The wives and children of the drunken miners came begging to 'Lafe's house before the next payday, and Sarah shared what they could, but 'Lafe' wanted to get his children in to a better environment, so they migrated to Nevada, Missouri.



Opal Brock, daughter of David Brock, pictured here with her grandmother Sarah Frances Brock's table, (and the author), wrote in July 1986; "The family moved from Indiana to Nevada, Missouri about 1884. They came to Missouri in a covered wagon, arrived in Nevada, spending the night with a family at the west edge of Nevada, (the house was still standing in 1985), then settled in the Scroghem District which at that time was situated about 6 miles SW of Nevada, and 4 miles NE of Moundville." (Later we learned Elkhanah Scroghem owned a major portion of the land, which is the reason the area was known as 'Scroghem'. Mr. Scroghem sold the Northwest corner of his land to the school district about 1885. Later that school building was burned down and a 'new' school erected in the present location.) "The Brocks lived in a log cabin a quarter-mile west of Drywood Creek for about two years, then moved a half-mile farther west to another log cabin just across the road from the Scroghem school", then to the home pictured, where the family was centered for decades. Lafayette and Sarah had been married almost 24 years and it has been said they farmed 189 acres that were mortgaged. Most of the family attended

After the battle it was stated a man could walk from one end of the road to the other as far as he could see, and step on the bodies of Confederate Soldiers the entire route. The road is still known as "Bloody Lane."

On following pages are copies of Lale's Master Rolls. Note that after the Battle at Antietam he was assigned duty as a "Mineteer in the Quartermaster Department" and in May of 1863 he was a "Regimental Teamster". Lale was discharged March 31, 1864 in Indianapolis.

Two years after his discharge, on October 22, 1866, Lafayette and Sarah Frances Powell were married "by Rev. Barnes a Methodist" in Hoyt County, Indiana. Sarah was born in the same town in Indiana as Lale, almost seven years later.

Both of her parents were of German descent and spoke German. Her mother was Sarah Jane Carpenter. It is said that she inherited property in Germany, but did not want to return to the old country to claim it. We found this battered and rusty old trunk in Kokomo. Elizabeth Rockwell's belongings and what we have no proof, it is likely the image of Sarah Dickson.

Lale and Sarah had 13 children. The first five were born near Lawrenville, Harrison County, Indiana. Lorella, in 1867. Then in 1869 was relocated when Sarah died a sun. Polly Dillon in 1870, Louis in 1872, and Angelia in 1873, both died in infancy. Rebecca Elizabeth was the first child born in Clayton, Harrison County, Indiana in 1874. Harvey Harrison in 1875, Milford Milliman in 1877, Lulu Maude in 1879, David Thurman in 1880 was the last child born in Corydon. Ida Mae was born in 1882 in Mauckport, Indiana. Leonard Lafayette in 1885 was the first child born in Nevada, Missouri. And Emma Catherine, born in 1890 was their last child.

In the 1870 Census, Lale's occupation was farmer, with real estate valued at $500, and $300 in personal property. It has been said that he worked in the coal mines in southern Indiana. So many of his neighbors got drunk every payday squandering their pay, that he became a passionate prohibitionist. The wives and children of the drunken miners came begging to Lale's house before the most payday, and Sarah shared what they could, but Lale wanted to get his children in to a better environment, so they migrated to Nevada, Missouri.

Ethel Brock, daughter of David Brock, pictured here with her grandmother Sarah Frances Brock's table, (and the author), wrote in July 1993, "The family moved from Indiana to Nevada, Missouri about 1874. They came to Missouri in a covered wagon, arrived in Nevada, spending the night with a family at the west edge of Nevada, (the house was still standing in 1893), then settled in the Sarrington District which at that time was situated about 6 miles SW of Nevada, and 4 miles NE of Adamsville." Later we learned Elizabeth Sarrington owned a major portion of the land, which is the reason the area was known as "Sarrington." Mr. Sarrington sold the Northwest corner of his land to the school district about 1883. Later that school building was burned down and a new school erected in the present location. The Brocks lived in a log cabin a quarter-mile west of Drywood Creek for about two years, then moved a half-mile farther west to another log cabin just across the road from the Sarrington school, then to the home pictured, where the family was counted for decades. Lafayette and Sarah had been married almost 27 years and it has been said they burned the notes that were mortgaged. Most of the bunch attended School at Sylvan Dale, and it later became a church, which was still in use in 1988. When the schools consolidated, the area became known as the Sylvan Dale District.

When their daughter Ida Brock Dawson's husband passed away, Ida later married Joe Sterling and moved to Montana. Ida's son Jack Othal Dawson lived with his grandparents until he reached maturity. So Sarah and 'Lafe' had many years of 'child-rearing'.

'Lafe' and Sarah kept in touch with their children through the mail. Picture-postcards were apparently the fashion of the day, as many of these cards and photos were preserved by Rebecca Brock Burket. Four of their children, including Becky, were living in La Harpe, Kansas, so they were able to visit frequently, with daily train service between La Harpe and Nevada. Copies of some of his letters appear on following pages.

Lafayette applied for a disability pension in January 1904, stating he was mostly deaf, "suffered from debility, was much emaciated and bilious and have stomach troubles, and after exercise I am subject to vertigo.." (See his General Affidavit on the following pages.) He apparently received Pension 3838379, then in June he added "heart trouble and nervousness" to the list. In November 1912 he was still attempting to amend his pension request (see following pages), which amounted to thirty-dollars a month.

The Nevada Herald ran this story: "About 1908 H.M. Raschke began courting Emma K. Brock, the youngest daughter. Sometime during the courtship period and prior to the marriage (which lasted 51 years), they introduced their fathers to each other. Lafayette Brock and William Raschke, both then longtime residents of Nevada had never met. Yet they had served in the Union Army in many of the same major Civil War battles, although in different units. They both remembered the blood and thunder, of Gettysburg and Antietam, Bull Run and Chancellorsville. Their meeting touched off a continuing series (old comrade) stories which did not end until Lafayette's death in 1916."

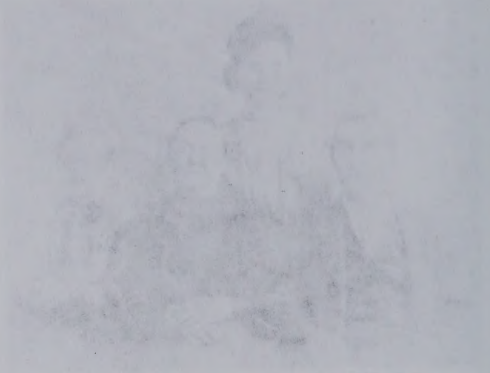
On October 22nd, 1916, the family gathered at Leonard Brock's home to celebrate Sarah and Lafayette's 50th wedding anniversary. They presented 'Lafe' with "an elegant gold watch, and Sarah received a nice new dress."

'Lafe' enjoyed good health otherwise, until 3-4 days before his death, when he suffered mild Paralysis. He died October 29, 1916. He was 73 years old. His occupation listed as 'carpenter'. His Death Certificate (on following pages) issued on

This picture was taken at the 50th Wedding Anniversary of 'Lafe' and Sarah, which includes all of their children except Polly and Ida, 43 grandchildren, (including 3 children of Polly and one of Ida's), and eight great-grandchildren.

Seated in the middle, wearing the hat, is 'Lafe'. Sarah just to the right, followed by Rebecca Elizabeth Brock Burket. Around Rebecca are seven of her children. Other family members and their spouses are not identified.

School in Sylvan Dale, and it later became a church, which was still in use in 1983. When the schools consolidated, the area became known as the Sylvan Dale District.



Lafayette Lambert, Jr. [illegible]

When their daughter Ella Brock, Dawson's first band passed away, his latter marriage to Sterling and moved to Stockton, Idaho, son Jack Oliver Dawson lived with his grandparents until he reached maturity. So Sarah and 'Lafe' had many years of 'child-rearing'.

'Lafe' and Sarah kept in touch with their children through the mail. Picture-postcards were apparently the fashion of the day, as many of these cards and photos were preserved by Rebecca Brock Barnes, Four of their children, including Rocky, were living in La Harpe, Dawson as they were able to visit frequently, with daily train service between La Harpe and Stockton. Copies of some of his letters appear on following pages.

Lafayette applied for a disability pension in January 1908, stating he was mostly deaf, "suffered from debility, was much crippled and fallen, and have stomach troubles and after exertion I am subject to vertigo." (See his Contract Affidavit on the following page). He apparently received Pension 383827? then in June he added "heart trouble and nervousness" to the list. In November 1912 he was still attempting to amend the pension request (see following page), which amounted to thirty-dollars a month.

"The Nevada Herald ran this story: 'About 1908 NM Rosebie began courting Emma K Brock, the youngest daughter. Sometime during the courtship period and prior to the marriage (which lasted 41 years), they introduced their fathers to each other. Lafayette Brock and William Rosebie, both then longtime residents of Nevada, had never met. Yet they had served in the Union Army in many of the same units (Civil War) and they, although in different units. They both remembered the blood and thunder of Lawrence and Antietam, Bull Run and Chancellorsville. They months terrified of a continuing series with countrymen among which did not end until Lafayette died in 1916.

On October 22nd 1916, the family gathered at Leonard Brock's home to celebrate Sarah and Lafayette's 50th wedding anniversary. They presented 'Lafe' with 'an elegant gold watch and Sarah received a nice new dress.'

'Lafe' appears good health otherwise until 3-4 days before his death when he suffered with fever. He died October 22, 1916. He was 75 years old. His occupation listed as carpenter. His Death Certificate (on following page) listed on 10-31-1916 states the cause of death as "Apoplexy Cerebral". Lafe's obituary read "Mr. Brock was in every way an ideal citizen. His honesty and integrity were never questioned by those who knew him and he enjoyed the confidence and esteem of all with whom he came in contact. For many years he had been a member of the Christian church, and had lived a life in keeping with this profession. He was big of heart, a devoted husband and affectionate father."

After 'Lafe' died, Sarah continued to receive widow's pensions 833135 and 8842287 in the amount of $30 until her death.

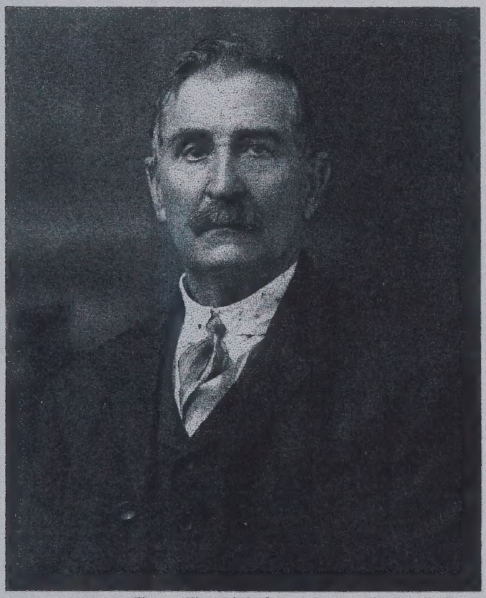
Sarah was staying with her son Dave (& Freeda) following the birth of Lonnie, when she had a heart attack. She died sitting in her chair during an asthma attack... as she was dying she said to Freeda... "Take care of yourself Freeda, I'm at the door (of heaven) now, it's so beautiful!"

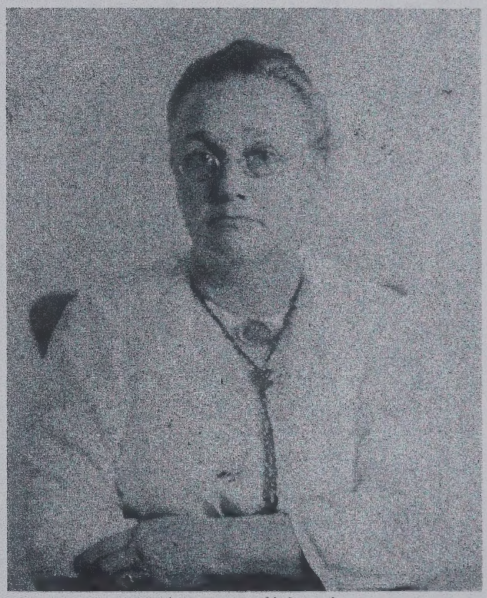
On following pages, Sarah's Death Certificate issued 3-16-1923 states the cause of death as "a bad heart. She was 74 years of age."

Sarah's obituary read:

"Mrs. Brock had lived in Vernon county about 40 years, much of the time in Nevada of late years. She was a good, old fashioned, motherly woman and her death will grieve a large circle of acquaintances. Some of the best people of Vernon county are her direct descendants, and the Herald joins with many other friends in condolences to them and to her other relatives."

There has been some discussion about the spelling of his name 'Lafayette', indeed even on his cemetery stone it is misspelled, as he was prone to do in later years. However, all of his military papers and on the pension papers it is properly spelled and signed.



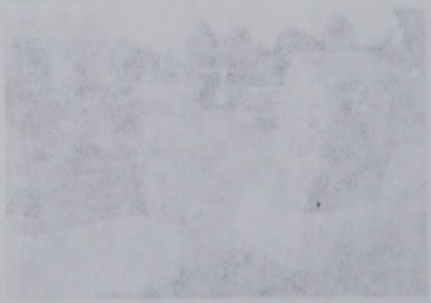


The spelling of 'Lafe's name, and the dates on both stones do not agree with multiple sources of information.
'Lafe' & Sarah are buried at Newton Burial Park, Nevada, MO. Block 16, Lot 82, 10th Row.

10-31-1910 states the cause of death as "Angina Cerebral". Lale's obituary read "Mr. Hirsch was in every way an ideal citizen. His honesty and integrity were never questioned by those who knew him, and he enjoyed the confidence and esteem of all with whom he came in contact. For many years he had been a member of the Christian church, and had lived a life in keeping with this profession. He was big of heart, a devoted husband and affectionate father."

After Lale died, Sarah continued to receive widow's pensions (#23173 and #18222) in the amount of $30 until her death.

Sarah was staying with her son Jacob (Jack) following the birth of Jennie, when she had a heart attack. She died sitting in her chair during an asthma attack. As she was dying she said to Freda, "Take care of yourself Freda, I'm in the door (of heaven) now, it's so beautiful."



On following pages, Sarah's Death Certificate issued 3-10-1923 states the cause of death as "a bad heart. She was 74 years of age."

Sarah's obituary read:

"Mrs. Hirsch had lived in Vernon county about 40 years, much of the time in Nevada at his store. She was a good, old fashioned, motherly woman and her death will leave a large circle of acquaintances. Some of the best people of Vernon county are her direct descendants, and the Herald joins with many other friends in condolences to them and to her other relatives."

There has been some discussion about the spelling of his name 'Lalewitz' indeed even on his cemetery stone it is misspelled, as he was prone to do in later years. However, all of his military papers and on the pension papers it is properly spelled and signed.

LAFAYETTE BROCK's CIVIL WAR MUSTERS

On the far left is a Muster form, dated July 22nd in Corydon, Indiana, about three weeks after his enlistment. His horse is worth $125. In the 2nd form, dated August 22nd, he has moved to Madison, Indiana. He was 19 years old and had enlisted for the term of the (Civil) war. The middle form shows that he was mounted on his own horse in 1862. It was in September 1862 he was at Antietem. The 4th muster form covers a 13-month period until June 1864. It indicates that in April 1863 he was detailed as a Muleteer in the Quarter Master Department as a Regimental Teamster. The far right form shows he was mustered-out August 31, 1864 in Indianapolis. He was still 19 years old!??

I was first a member of Co. B 3rd Ind. Cav. I was then transferred to Co. "C" of the same Regt. I was personally acquainted with the said Lafayette Brock. I saw him when he was struck by a bursting shell in the battle of Antietam, or Sharpsburg in 1862 on Sept. 17th. It was on a wooden bridge spanning Antietam Creek. The Enemy had several pieces of artillery trained on it and the shells were flying thick and fast when one exploded on the Bridge killing horses and killed a Colonel was killed and I do not know how many more were killed or wounded. A piece of shell or the force of explosion threw said Lafayette Brock from his saddle a few feet in the air and then he fell on the Bridge floor. I was about 100 feet from him in his rear. The bridge was choked of horses and men, then we galloped across and took a position. I did not see him after that in the Army as I remember. A week after that I was taken with Typhoid fever, sent to a hospital, was finally discharged. The next time I saw him was in 1864 or 1865 at Camp Harrison County, he was then hard of hearing as said in said recital; hearing was since the explosion of the shell. We lived within a few miles several years after 1865 and saw him frequently. I have not been in or three times in the last few years, he was here on a visit several different times. I believe he has increasing deafness. He was a good and faithful soldier.

He was not hard of hearing before we got hurt with the exploding shell.

And further declare that I have no interest in said claim and am not concerned in its prosecution.

BROCK CHILDREN

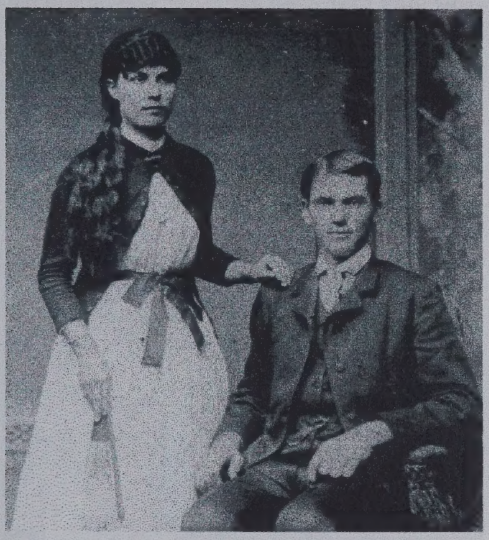
It is surprising that we know so little about the lives of the Lafayette and Sarah Brock children. However, we do have some stories and pictures of Becky's sisters and brothers to share.

Anna Drusilla Brock

1867 - 1960

Frank Emery

1867 - 1941



Anna and Frank Emery had nine children, all born in the Sylvan Dale District just south of Nevada (MO). Myrtle Florence born in 1889. Millie May in 1891, Earl Emery in 1892, an infant death. Ethel Ellen in 1893, Harvey Lester in 1895, Elvin Fillmore in 1898, Kinnie Allen in 1901, David Franklin in 1906 and Lawrence Vernon in 1912.

We know more about Annie because she and Becky were able to keep in touch with each other throughout the years. And Annie's daughter-in-law (wife of Lawrence Emery), Geneva Emery has shared many of her memories with us. She furnished newspaper clippings, and family pictures. Also, Annie's granddaughter (daughter of Kinnie Emery) has provided copies of many of their family collection of pictures, which follow. She attended school at Sylvan Dale, and took us there (now a church) and reminisced about her school days in this one-room schoolhouse (with two front doors). Later she showed us where the Frank Emery homesite (log cabin) was, and gave us a map of the area, which helped to orient us to the Brock/Emery locations in the area.

Frank inherited some land when his father, Aaron Emery passed away. They built a log cabin, and lived there for about 10 years. Later they built a home across the road where their last two children were born. Annie went barefoot when laying out their inherited land, and helped 'sprout it off'.

Geneva Emery said, "Annie never said anything bad about another. She was a wonderful person, a true Christian. Her hair was so long she could sit on it. She had very little gray in her hair when she died at 92. If she and Frank got in to an argument, she would say 'we will just agree to disagree', and that was it. She and her sister Becky were a lot alike. All the Brocks I saw were small-built people.

"What I remember best is that both Annie and Aunt Becky had 'sleeping panties'. They probably came to the knees, each leg separate, and were sewed to a band that buttoned at the waist. They told me that they had to wear panties (more like bloomers) in case they were blown out of the house (tornado) they would be covered. They tickled me so. Aunt Becky was a sweetheart. We always loved to have her come to visit."

Son David Emery was a school teacher and became a minister. He preached his first sermon at the Sylvan Dale church, graduated from Central Baptist Seminary in Kansas City.

David Townson Brock

Freeda was of German descent, and could not express herself exactly as desired, so was frequently misunderstood. She was a very kind person. Geneva Emery wrote "She let my mom send her washing to her, once a week for a year or more because we had no water. Can you imagine, we washed for their eight children and our five in the same water. She had a gasoline Maytag, the only one in the community, years before there was electricity. Their children were Opal, Kathryn 1911, Alfred David 1913, Donald Townsend 1914, Vernon Quincy 1917, Ellen Frances 1919, Doris Virginia 1921, Lonnie Dumont 1924 and Wilma Ladine 1927. Don Burkett's mother Erma Watson Burkett was Elsie's sister. Don relates the following;

"Elsie was a real blonde, with lots of freckles. She was short, and looked very unlike the rest of the family. People use to remark that 'she must be a stray'.

"Her husband, Leonard Brock, was the son of Will Burkett's grandmother! Which made her sister Erma Watson Burkett, not only her sister, but her aunt as well! All of their children were 'double cousins'! However, there was no blood mixup there, as it was only by marriage."

Freeda was of German descent, and could not express herself readily as desired, so was perceptly misunderstood. She was a very kind person. Geneva Emery wrote "She let my mom send her washing in big, once a week, for a year or more because we had no water. Can you imagine, we washed for their eight children and our five in the same water. She had a washing Monday, the only one in the community, years before there was electricity. Their children were Opal Kathryn 1911, Alfred David 1913, Donald Towason 1914, Vernon Quincy 1917, Ellen Frances 1918, Doris Virginia 1921, Louis Dumont 1924 and William Lindon 1927. It was Dave and Freeda's home where Sarah Frances Brock passed on.

Two years after they were married, Will died of pneumonia. Their son, Odial lived with her parents Lafayette and Sarah Frances, until maturity. Later, Ida married Joe Sterling, and moved to Montana. They had three children, Joy, Joe and unknown.

Leonard Lafayette Brock
1868 – Abt. 1927
Elsie Louise Watson
1880 – 1947

Don Brock's mother Erma Watson Brock was Elsie's sister. Don relays the following

"Elsie was a real blonde, with lots of freckles. She was short, and looked very unlike the rest of the family. People use to remark that 'she must be a fairy.'

"Her husband, Leonard Brock, was the son of Will Brock's grandmother Which made her sister Erma Watson Brock, not only her sister, but her aunt as well. All of their children were 'durable' counted. However, there was no blood relatives, as it was only by marriage."

Their children were Cindy, Clemmer Clementia, Gerald, Leonard, Jennie, Clarence and Marvin.

Don continues, "Elsie was an invalid in a wheel chair for years. A son was born to her at the age of 50, and she was crippled thereafter."

Elsie was a member of the 'Latter Day Saints' Church, and submitted for the 'Ordinances of Sealing' to Lafayette & Sarah Brock, the following childrens' names: Anna Drusilla, Pollie Diliah, Rebecca Elizabeth, Harvey Harrison, Milford Milligan, Lula Maude, David Townson, Ida Mae, Leonard Lafayette and Emma Cathrina. (International Genealogical Index. LDS Film Collection, Batch 8121702, Sheet 77, Source 1260945.)

They moved to Florida ca. 1942.

From the Left: Harry, Maurice, Emma and Charlotte

Emma and Harry were outgoing, friendly people. They visited with Becky and all of their relatives, probably more than anyone else. Even after moving from Nevada, Missouri to Carthage, Missouri, they still visited their relatives frequently.

Harry's father, H. M. Raschke was a very good friend of Lafayette Brock. (See Lafayette Brock segment.)

Emma and Harry had three children; Maurice, Charlotte, and Emogene.

The Paul McClelland family moved to Carthage in 1937, and lived near the Raschke's. Marvelle enjoyed visiting with her 'Aunt Emma', and very much appreciated their many expressions of kindness.

Our thanks to Maurice for sharing many of these Brock pictures, taken from his mother Emma's collection. He resides in Carthage, Missouri.

The BURKETT's...“A Remarkable Family”

Robert Michael Rebecca Elizabeth

Now, we have met Mike and Becky's parents, and learned they survived a war and moved from their homes in Tennessee and Indiana to Missouri. We know more about their brothers and sisters than we do about Mike and Becky's first ten years of married life in the Sylvan Dale District of Nevada, Missouri during this same time period.

Since Mike's brother, William Wesley Burket, Jr., worked to help out at home until he was 22, it is safe to assume that Mike also worked at least that long and perhaps longer, since he was six months shy of his 25th birthday when he married Becky. In those days, daughters married at 15 or 16 years of age. (A 20-year old woman was considered an 'old maid'.) Marriages were frequently encouraged by parents.

We can only wonder where and how they met. Both families lived in an area midway between Nevada and Moundville that was called Scroghem for Elkhanah Scroghem, who owned a large portion of the land. The Sylvan Dale school was the central meeting place for the people living here, and the area soon took on the school's name.

“It might be said of Nevada, that it started twice. On October 1, 1855, a non-resident commission chose Nevada City (named after the California mining town) as the county seat of the new Vernon County. Then came the Civil War. Tuesday, May 23, 1863, Union troops crossed the border from Kansas and arrived at the town square. Capt. Morton Anderson shouted to his men; “Every building big enough to hide a bushwhacker (Southern guerrilla) is to be burned to the ground,” and by nightfall the fledgling town lay in ashes.

“In 1869, with the War over and Nevada's veterans returned to what remained of 'home', the Town Fathers pondered seriously before deciding to give it another try. Now named simply Nevada, the town was rebuilt and incorporated. What followed was a roughly 60-year period of remarkable growth.

“For one thing, in common with many other late-19th century Midwestern towns, Nevada owed much to the railroad. As if it had merely been waiting in the wings, the Missouri-Kansas-Texas (Katy) rolled in to town on October 26, 1870. More important to the local economy, the Missouri Pacific arrived 11 years later, bringing hard working settlers to the area”. — Nevada Chamber of Commerce

We know that William Wesley Burket, Jr. attended school at Sylvan Dale (briefly) and this is apparently where the Burkets, Brocks and Emery's lived and became acquainted with each other. In all likelihood, Mike and Becky lived here after their marriage, as their first five children were born in the area; William 1891, Laura 1893, Lula 1894, Earl 1896 and Fred 1898.

Tall boy is Will, Earl in front. Becky is holding Fred. Laura is standing, Lula seated

They were farmers and it is said the soil was very poor in much of the Sylvan Dale area. We have found no indication they ever owned land, so they probably were tenant farmers. We have been told that Mike had a lot of 'bad luck' with several teams of horses that died.

So perhaps when they heard the new gas smelter near La Harpe, Kansas had opened and work was available, they left their parents, brothers and sisters and moved to La Harpe.

Kansas was a young state at the time, in fact it was not until 1881 the Missouri Pacific Railway platted the areas near their rail right of way. The conductor of the train was from La Harpe, Illinois, and he named the town after his home town. (See picture of La Harpe, KS on the next page.)

We have learned that Becky's brothers Harvey (and Rosa), Milford (and Mae), and her sister,

We know that William Wesley Burkett, Jr. attended school at Sylvan Dale (briefly) and this is apparently where the Burkett brothers and Barry's lived and became acquainted with each other in childhood. Mike and Becky lived here after their marriage, as their first five children were born in the area. William 1891, Laura 1893, Dale 1895, Earl 1896 and Fred 1898.

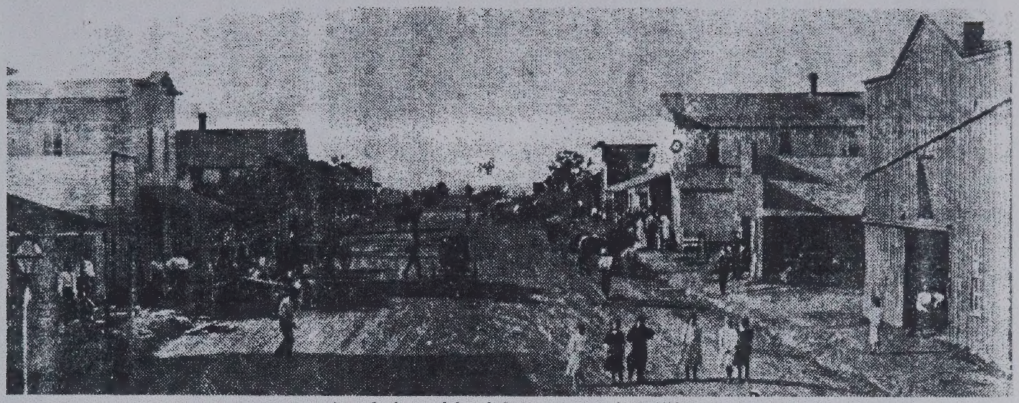
We have learned that Becky's brothers Harvey (and Rose), Milford (and Mae), and her sister,



Copy of a photograph from the La Harpe Gazette, taken in 1890

Lula and Alphonso ('Phon') Williams had also moved to La Harpe. It must have been very difficult for 'Lafe' and Sarah to have four of their families move away. Annie lived a few miles away on a farm and Dave just across the road. Polly lived in Ft. Scott, Kansas. Ida Mae was married about that time to Will Dawson, so she was living nearby, and Leonard (12) and Emma (10) were still at home.

Mike and Becky appeared in the 1900 Census, showing Mike as a Smelter Laborer. In the 1905 Kansas Census the family had grown to eight children, and they were renting a home. It was interesting to note the oldest five children had attended school for eight months. By the 1910 Census Mike was listed as a 'Smelter Furnace man', and owned their home free of mortgage. The lot at 308 South McKinley was platted in December of 1885, in Cruses 2nd Addition to La Harpe. The house originally was a four-room home with no running water or electricity. (Cooking and lighting was with gas.) We don't know if Mike and Becky lived somewhere else earlier, but they apparently rented this house until October 1907, when a Warranty Deed was issued to R.M. Burket by A.G. Knox recorded on 1 Oct 1907 for Lot 4, Blk 3 for $450. The home had one exception for oil and gas or mineral lease and a $250 mortgage with Atlas Building & Loan. (Recorded at the Courthouse in Iola, KS.)

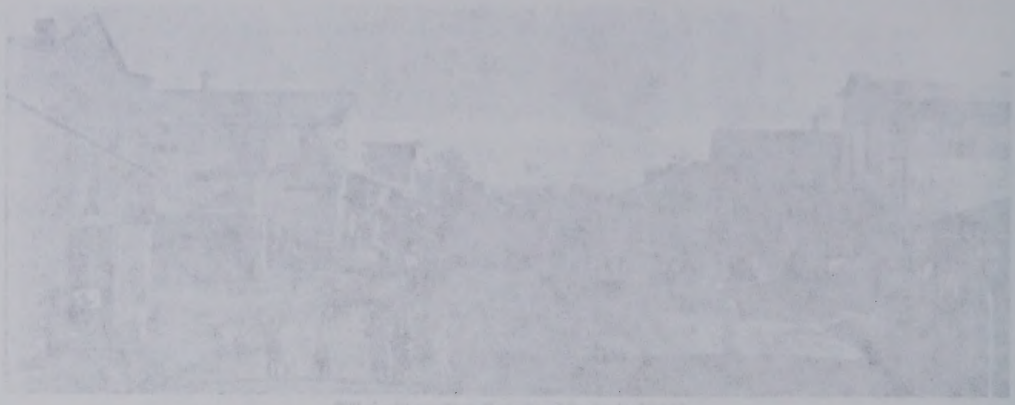
By 1912 the last five children were born in La Harpe. Callie 1901, Claude 1903, Marvelle 1904, Raymond 1907 and Irene in 1912.

The Brocks; Rebecca, Harvey, Milford and Lula, were close in age. (Five and a half-year spread.) They visited frequently and their children enjoyed visiting with each other.

Aunt Becky often had a house-full of 'overnighters'. It has been said that Becky's children thought it great fun to have their cousins stay overnight, even if it meant they had to sleep crosswise (four to five) in a bed. Sometimes it was necessary to place pallets (quilts and blankets) on the floor, so all would have a place to sleep. And of course "Crazy Betsy" entertained. Her face was drawn on the back of 'Becky's hand, and she wore a head scarf. 'She lived' behind two blankets that hung to the floor, covering an ironing board placed over the seats of two chairs. 'Crazy Betsy' would appear from between the two blankets to entertain the children. Rebecca was calm and quietly 'in-charge' even with all of the kids 'under-foot' during our visits.

One of the remarkable things about this family of ten children is throughout their lives they kept in close contact. The difference in ages from the oldest to the youngest (a span of about 21 years) did not seem to matter. Example: Will the oldest, visited the youngest, Irene. They never missed an opportunity to stop and visit each other, even when they were only passing through on business. Like the time Earl, driving a large flour-mill truck, stopped to visit Marvelle in Carthage, Missouri. They kept in contact through cards and letters, and a very unique method called the 'chain-letter'. This was a letter that circulated through a planned route which brought the letter to every one within a month Each one added their letter, and removed the oldest letter.



Lala and Alphonso ('Bson') Williams had also moved to La Harpe. It must have been very difficult for 'Lale' and Sarah to have four of their families move away. Annie lived a few miles away on a farm and Dave just across the road. Polly lived in Ft. Scott, Kansas. Ida Mae was married about that time to Will Bowman, so she was living nearby, and Leonard (12) and Emma (10) were still at home.

Millie and Becky appeared in the 1910 Census, showing Millie as a Sanitary Laborer. In the 1915 Kansas Census the family had grown to eight children, and they were renting a home. It was interesting to note the oldest five children had attended school for eight months. By the 1910 Census Millie was listed as a 'Sanitary Furnace man'. They owned their home free of mortgage. The lot at 306 South McKinley was platted in Dawn-May of 1905, in Census 2nd Addition to La Harpe. The house originally was a four-room home, with no running water or electricity (Coking and lighting was with gas). We don't know if Millie and Becky lived somewhere else earlier, but they apparently rented this house until October 1907, when a Warranty Deed was issued to KM. Buried by AC. THE BURKETT FAMILY Standing, from the left: Raymond, Marvelle, Lula, Claude, Fred, Callie, Earl and Laura. Seated: Robert, Irene, Rebecca, Will and Erma.

What we know about Mike and Becky's family is from stories related by their children, and those events we remember when the families gathered. Or when we went to visit our grandmother in La Harpe, Kansas.

William Lafayette Burkett
1891 --- 1967
Erma Mae Watson
1893 --- 1984

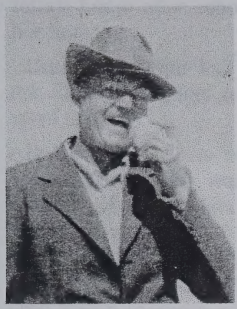
Will and Erma were a handsome couple as seen in the family picture above. Mike and Becky must have been very proud of their first son, handsome and industrious. Erma's maiden name was Watson. She lived with her family on a farm near Downs, Kansas, before they moved near Nevada, Missouri. There were seven children, four boys and three girls. Erma recalled, "In the event of a tornado, her mother would take them to a deep cave near their home. After they moved to Nevada, her family visited with the Dave Brock family, Rebecca's brother."

Don Burkett wrote in December 1997 (his father) "Will' worked for Tobin Construction Company and was home only on weekends every other week or so. He must have been pretty good in bidding jobs. A friend who worked for my dad told me that Tobin had a college man out of Kansas University do his bidding, and some times he would ask my dad to give his estimate on a job. Dad was a foreman for Joe Tobin for 15 or 20 years.

"My dad worked on the road as 'Bill' and usually worked on roads, bridges and viaducts, but one time he was responsible for putting in the water works, at least the purifying basins, at Ft. Scott, Kansas. I still remember him laying out some blueprints of the project on the dining room table, and glancing over them for a brief period.

"I always regretted that I never asked him how much education he had. Callie Burkett told me she was sure he had the 6th or 8th grade, but no more. High school, or college wasn't possible in those days. Just getting food on the table was important."

Uncle Will was a very happy, pleasant, outgoing person, always telling jokes and entertaining us. In the 1910 Census his occupation was listed as 'Commercial Traveler'. When he and Erma retired, they enjoyed traveling and fishing. He also found time to work in his shop making corner knick-nack shelves. The one in Marvelle's family is still in use.



Erma, was a great admirer of Will's mother Becky. She wrote this at Christmas time, years ago; "What a wonderful person she was. All these Mother-in-law jokes did not apply to us. I loved her like I would my own (mother).

"We spent several Christmases in her home. She always had big loaves of the best bread. They used a starter to make bread then and I think it was better than store yeast. A starter is a small amount of dough, called a 'sponge', put back each time and kept in a jar in a cool place. The first starter is made with hops. Mother Burkett knew how to do all these things. She would make six or seven big loaves from that little starter.

"Then she always had a big pan of her famous baked beans. Nothing could possibly taste as good as that fresh bread and beans. They came out just the same every time, and I try and try, but I can't make them taste like she did. They were so good and I always envied my husband for being raised on such food.

"Times were hard then and I have seen her make cookies without any sugar and we ate them and I've seen her put her layer cake together with some of the cake dough when she didn't have sugar. The coffee grounds were boiled several times but somehow everything always tasted good.

"I worried about her. She was so hard-up, but she was patient and kind and helped in every way she could."

Erma preserved the blessing of grandmothers Burkett and Brock. (See following).

An early memory of Aunt Erma was the way she helped grandmother provide the meals for all of us when we came to visit. Her graham crackers with a filling of icing was a great way to keep the kids happy, and probably a very economical dessert.

Erma was an early entrepreneur, owning a beauty shop in Iola. When we all came to visit grandmother, she very generously offered a permanent to the girls. Later she also had a beauty shop in Kansas City. When she retired she wrote articles for the local newspapers, wherever they traveled, typing them herself. She played the piano in a band, and later spent many hours playing the piano, as her son Don strummed the guitar.

Doris Jack said "At a time when it really made a difference in my life, Erma, took a great interest in me." Erma took a lot of snapshots of the children, and we find them in our collections, well-labeled.

Will and Erma had three children; Don, Jean and Dale.

Laura Belle Burkett

1893 --- 1962

Elmer Morris Jack

1882 --- 1967

Now, Mike and Becky have a son and a daughter, Laura. The first daughter was very devoted to her mother. We found her cards and letters in Becky's scrapbook. There is a picture of their home (308 South McKinley). Becky is seated and Laura and Claude are standing nearby. We found one that is inscribed "To Mama, from Laura." It was one of those postcards that were so popular at the time, which might picture yourself, your home, or your new baby.

Irene (Landers) remembered that "Elmer and Laura lived in a house in La Harpe that was just a block away from Grandmother Burkett's home. The wooden floors in the home had been finished by Elmer, and looked like hardwood. Laura would dust-mop the floor behind you as you left. Every Friday she would air all the bedding. Tapioca pudding was her specialty."

Irene also told us when her 'big sister' Marvelle braided her hair too tight before school each day, she would stop at Laura's home enroute to school and have Laura loosen the braids. (But Marvelle always knew what had happened, as Irene would return home after school with the braids out of her hair.)

Laura and Elmer had five children; Allen, Robert, Eugene, Dorothy and Doris. (The last three were triplets.)

Becky attended the births of almost all of her grandchildren. She was with Laura during the delivery of the triplets. Becky was known as a 'practical nurse'. She assisted in confinement cases. It was customary for new mothers to be confined in bed after the new baby was delivered, and sometimes needed help before the delivery. The Fred Burkett family of West Monroe, Louisiana has her little note book in which she recorded many of our births, names, dates and weights.

The Jack triplets, were born nine months and 11 days after their brother Robert, on 14 January 1932. They weighed-in at;

Eugene Elmer - 5 lbs.

Dorothy Bernice - 4-3/4 lbs.

Doris Elizabeth - 4-1/4 lbs.

Irene remembered helping her mother Becky take care of the children, all four under the age of one. A very busy time for the household, in addition to a milk formula problem for Dorothy.

When Becky had to return to work, Irene stayed on, to help Elmer take care of the babies. She told of the challenges in keeping up with four babies, and after many attempts, to adjust Dorothy's formula, she died at the age of six months.

This was the second of three grandchildren Becky lost as infants. (See Fred and Blanche.) It was a sad time for our Burkett family.

Aunt Laura was a very gentle and kind person. She would talk with the nieces and nephews in a very soft voice.

Dona Jack wrote, "Robert remembers his mother gathering her little brood on the bed at nap time, and reading them Bible stories. Maybe that is where Bob got interested in God. We are thankful to her for that." Pauleene remembers when Allen and his parents came to visit, Allen could quote many Bible verses.

Dona continues, "Our family called Elmer, 'Grandpa Kansas'. He was a very quiet, kind man. He loved his Lord. When Bob was growing up, Elmer worked hard as a house painter. Bob helped some to paint. It really scared him to hold on to the rope with one hand and paint with the other hand, standing on the tall ladders."

Lula Frances Burkett

1894 -- 1915

Lula enjoyed ice skating and playing the organ. After her school days she moved to Nevada, probably staying with her Emery cousins, and worked at Dempsey's Candy Store, where she learned to make candy.

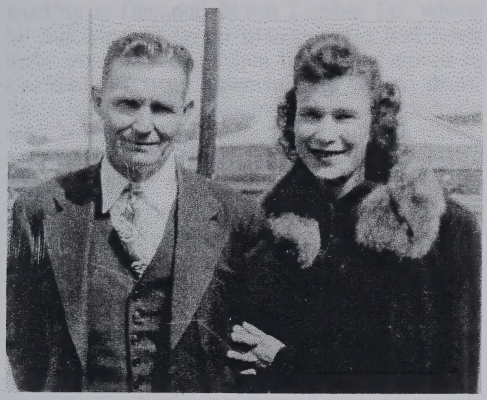
Rebecca had a collection of Lula's letters and cards. She described her work, and mentioned her brothers and sisters birthdays, and her activities with her cousins Millie and Ethel Emery.

Lula was like a second mother to the younger children, since Becky had to be away working so much of the time. Marvelle said "How different our lives would have been had Lula lived."

In her letters to her mother she mentioned how much she missed Irene (the youngest of the children she had been caring for).

It was a very sad time for the family, when she died, only two days after their father's death. We can only imagine how the family grieved, losing both in the same week.

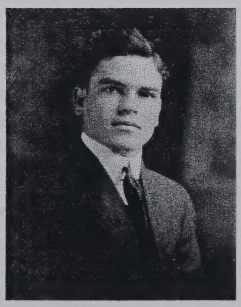
Earl Landrum Burkett
1896 -- 1978
Mattie Mae Brittain Bliss
1900 -- 1987



Earl was the last of the first five children to marry. He was of great assistance to his mother Rebecca, and the younger children, in addition to helping financially. Irene said he was the only father figure she ever knew. He married Mattie, who had a daughter Madeline. She never lets an opportunity pass without saying, "To me I have always been a Burkett as I had one of the most wonderful fathers. No child ever had a better childhood, and I inherited a wonderful grandmother, Rebecca. She took my mom and me in to the fold with love. Bless her." 'Mattie' remembered Becky on every holiday, and spoke of her warmly. Mattie was a very energetic 'petite' size, always taking pictures of the family, and sharing them. We find many of her pictures in our collection today. At 86 she was very independent, and still driving her car.

Earl was a carpenter after he moved to California. When he retired he was able to spend a lot of time with his grandson Lance.

Fred Lester Burkett
1898 -- 1967
Blanche Foster



We don't know when Fred moved to Louisiana after his marriage ended with Charlotte. They had a daughter Celestine. She was about the same age as Don Burkett, who remembers they played together and she had a Shetland pony. The last correspondence Rebecca Burkett received from her was from Washington State in December 1946.

Fred married Blanche Foster, and they had nine children. James, Robert, Milford, Herbert, Betty Fay, Jackie, Vera Loyce, Ronald and Johnnie. Milford lived from January 29th to Christmas Day in 1928. Betty Fay lived from October 15th, 1932 until November 9th, 1933. The Burkett family grieved with them.

They were a very warm, friendly couple, and offered true southern hospitality in their home.

Aunt Blanche frequently sent pictures of their children to Becky, which we found in her family albums. Uncle Fred built homes for each child on a big tract of land, so they all lived close enough to keep in touch.

Callie Mae Burkett
1901 -- 1976
Raymond Lee Bowen
1894 -- 1979

Callie and Ray had six children. Raymond, Buford, Virginia, Dorothy, Joan and Rosemary.

I remember when they lived in Kansas on a farm with a big hayloft, where we could jump down from the loft into the loose hay. There was a sinking sand hole on the property, which Raymond and Buford (about 12 and 10) gleefully described the consequences of sinking in the sand up to your neck. Boys will be boys!

It was stimulating to talk with Aunt Callie, as she was always 'in the know' on everything, including maladies and medical terms.

Virginia said her Mother, "Was an excellent seamstress, making children's clothing, and upholstered furniture. She wall-papered and painted her homes. She belonged to sewing clubs, quilting clubs and the church service club. She worked at the Oakdale Cannery during the season, and at the high school cafeteria in Oakdale. She was active in both the Grange and church activities."

Virginia writes "My brother Raymond died the 21st of December, 1974, leaving four children; Rose Marie, Frank and Frances (twins) and Barbra. He was an active member of the First Baptist Church of Oakdale. He provided for his family by working at Diamond Match Lumber Co., where he had worked up to Manager. He had been there over 25 years. When the family moved to California in 1936, Raymond and Buford drove Ray's Model A Ford coupe. The four girls rode with Mom and Dad. Their Essex pulled a trailer, and the boys brought up the rear in the Model A.

"My brother Buford served his country in World War II as a fighter-pilot in the Army Air Corps. His B-2 was shot down by German anti-aircraft over France. Buford was married to Jeannie Eva, and sadly he was lost only three days (August 7, 1944) before their daughter Naomi Jeanne was born. Buford and I had a very close relationship. We walked to school together, every day, and discussed many issues of life. As teenagers we attended church functions together, and participated in choir, church socials, the drama "In His Steps" and other church activities. We had many fun times together.

"My sister Dorothy died March 4, 1964, and left two daughters; Raydene and Paula. When Dorothy and I were little kids on the farm, we had great times playing 'bakery'. We would make white cakes out of ashes, and 'chocolate' cakes out of mud. We had quite a display of bakery goods 'for sale'. With six children in the family, space was a problem. So Dorothy and I also shared a room and a bed. When we lived in a two-story house in the Moran area, Dorothy was very troubled on stormy nights. When it thundered, she would jump out of bed and run downstairs to get in bed with Mom and Dad, and leave me alone to face the lightning and thunder. My two 'baby' sisters, Joan and Rosemary were three years, and 18 months old when we came to California. Since I was the oldest girl, I helped care for them a lot. They were about seven and five when Ralph and I were married, and we have fond memories now of boating, camping, fishing and traveling together with their families, as they were growing up, and now as adults we enjoy doing things together."

Pauleene (daughter of Marvelle) remembers "The day we (Marvelle, Pauleene and David) arrived in California from Missouri, in a pickup truck., loaded down with all our belongings. Our first stop was at Virginia and Ralph Buerer's home in Modesto. Callie picked us up there, and drove us to Oakdale to visit Aunt Irene. (I was thinking wow, what a fast driver! Little did I know that soon we would be California drivers too.) The three sisters, Callie, Marvelle and Irene had a nice visit together. We returned to Modesto, where Callie delivered us back to her daughter's home. Virginia had very generously offered her front bedroom to us until we could find a place to live. Later, Callie's daughter Dorothy located a place for us. They really made us feel welcome to California."

David remembers touring around Oakdale that summer with Joan and Rosemary. And how they really 'beat up on him' playing Ping Pong on the table in their back yard.

Callie knew all of her neighbors, and when it was all right to go pick up fruit after their harvest. I always think of her when I see a big ripe peach. Those peaches were yummy, huge and juicy!

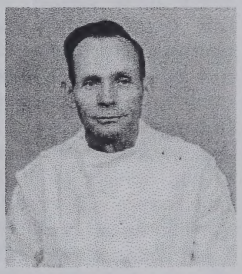
David remembers, he learned from Uncle Ray how Californians irrigate their crops. In the almond orchard he demonstrated how to use a shovel to route water between the rows of trees.

Claude Michael Burkett

1903 -- 1970

Peggy Ella Melinda Woten

1917 --



Peggy writes: "Besides working as a barber, (Claude had a barber shop in Iola, Kansas, just off the square) he could do almost anything, and was an outstanding hunter and fisherman. Mother Burkett (Rebecca) always said, 'when Claude goes fishing, I put the skillet on."

Uncle Claude and Aunt Peggy Ella lived in West Monroe, Louisiana near brother Fred, before moving to Camden, Arkansas, where they adopted their daughter Betty Merlene, when she was eight weeks old.

Peggy told us about Burkett, Texas. We visited the town, and met Yuna V. Burkett, hoping to find some connection, but without success. Yuna did arrange for us to acquire a history of her Texas Burkett family.

Becky left this world while she was visiting with Claude and Peggy Ella in 1947. Peggy remembers the day as though it were yesterday. (See segment entitled "Rebecca... a Grand Mother & Grandmother").

Anna Marvelle Burkett

1904 -- 1984

Paul Lilburn McClelland

1901 -- 1945

Paul came to La Harpe as a barber, from his home in Carthage, Missouri. He boarded with Callie Burkett Bowen and met Marvelle. They married on January 7th, 1924 in Iola, Kansas, then moved to Carthage and later to Joplin, Missouri. Marvelle and Paul had three children; Pauleene, Caroleene and David.

After the first ten years of their marriage, Paul became ill, and died ten years later in 1945.

Marvelle worked very hard to support her family during those trying times, but she never forgot how to have fun. She kept us busy and entered into all of our activities. She made paper sailboats for us to use in nearby streams, and we learned to make 'scissors' with crossed pins placed on the railroad track near our home, where we waited for the train to pass over the pins and press them together. I can remember the 'drum' we made from the round Quaker Oat box. On May Day she taught us how to make cones from pages of wallpaper books. We would place flowers in the cones, and with an attached string, hang the cones on front door-knobs, knocked, and ran away to hide in the bushes, waiting for someone to answer the door and be surprised by their bouquet.

On Halloween, she would polish apples and make popcorn for us. We would all dress up and go 'downtown' to the annual gathering. She would tell us of the things her brothers did in La Harpe on Halloween (which I shouldn't describe here). I still have the Pilgrim bonnet she made for me at Thanksgiving time. She worked the year 'round making craft items for Christmas gifts. She enjoyed having something to give her friends.

She was always painting the woodwork, replacing wallpaper, recovering a chair or some other project to improve our home.

Caroleene remembers "From the time I was in the fifth grade, mother worked six and sometimes seven days a week, took care of our home and yard, but still had time for us while we were growing up. She always had time for my children too. I remember once when she had a day 'off', she spent almost the entire day making ballerina outfits from old curtains for Cheryl and Judi, just to entertain them.

"Mother was always proud to be a Burkett. If someone in the family was working hard, she would say, he/she is a real Burkett."

Caroleene's daughter Judith remembers, "My sister Cheryl and I would write notes to mother during Sunday evening church services, begging her to take us to 'Grammy's house. We would draw and eye with tears running down, if she said 'no'. Grammy enjoyed making things, and how clever they were. She could make anything grow from just a pinched-off twig or plant leaf placed in the soil. She made the best fried chicken and great tasting mush. And always had candy in her candy jar, and four o'clock cookies in the cookie jar. I remember visiting her at Loeb's Department Store where she worked, and 'helping' her put the containers in the air-delivery system (vacuum tubes). That was so much fun. I remember how she called people just a couple years her senior 'the old people'. And she visited them frequently to cheer them up.

"She swabbed my throat with iodine when it was sore. That part was not so good. She made me feel important. I loved her very much, and miss her still."

David remembers "My mother and father took me and my sisters to many church functions. They introduced us to the Christian way of life that we have never departed from. Mother had a full-time job, nearly as long as I can remember. She was able to make payments on a house, raise three children, and make a home for us. I remember meeting her after work, to bring home the groceries in the large basket on my bicycle. I remember sometimes picking her up at work, and she would sit on the cross-bar of my bike, and I would peddle us home.

"One Halloween Caroleene had a party in the loft of our garage. She had invited her friends, but I remember visiting her at Lady's Department Store where she worked, and 'helping' her put the containers in the air-delivery system (vacuum tubes). That was so much fun. I remember how she called people just a couple years her senior 'the old people'. And she visited them frequently to cheer them up.

"She swallow my throat with tonine when it was sore. That pain was not so good. She made me feel important. I loved her very much, and miss her still."

David remembers, "My mother and father took me and my sisters to many church functions. They introduced us to the Christian way of life that we have never departed from. not the pest (me). Mother felt sorry for me, and she decorated a broom to look like a bum. When the party was going 'full-blast', she sneaked in to the garage, climbing the ladder, while slowly moving the broom up to the loft. You should have heard those 'mean old girls' scream!

"It is amazing I'm still alive, after all the problems I caused my 'big' sisters. I could never endure the 'little brother' they had. They both looked after me when mother was working. I must confess when my sisters' boyfriends came, there was a nosy, sneaky little brother looking in where he had no business."

Marvelle as a child, had auburn hair, and the temperament to go with it. She told of the time in La Harpe when her brothers Earl, Fred and Ray Bowen were building a bedroom on the back of the house. They told her they were leaving a hole in the wall, so they could peek into the girl's bedroom. Mother brought a bucket of water, and threw it on them.

Raymond Milford Burkett

1907 -- 1968

Effie Oliphant

1908 -- 1992

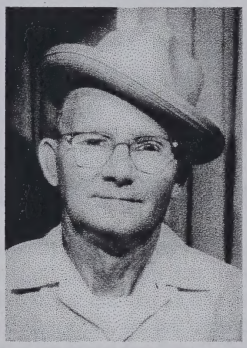
Raymond married Effie on Christmas Day 1934. Like Earl, he too stayed home longer than usual for young men of that day. He was of great financial help to his mother Becky, and assisted with the family chores, such as carrying water from Moran, for the family's household needs and laundry. He was very devoted to his mother, and Effie loved her also. Raymond worked for Curtis Furniture Company in La Harpe and Iola, and later for Bill Woods Furniture in Iola.

During World War II he was a baker in the Army, and his pancakes won rave 'reviews' from the soldiers. (He never told them it was because he put vanilla in the pancakes.)

Raymond's dog 'Ted' was part of the family, and a great companion to Effie while Raymond was away during the war.

In Iola, Kansas in the mid-40's Raymond bought 'fixer-upper' houses, and remodeled them. When they moved to Modesto, California, he was in the used furniture business, working with his brother-in-law, and their store was known as 'Burkett & Myers'. It was fun to go into his used furniture store. He was a very savvy businessman. When he saw a moving sale advertised, he would make an offer on everything in the house (usually very low). When the sellers couldn't get rid of everything piece-by-piece for what they wanted, they would call him and say "it's yours, come and take it all away." He had some really neat things in his store. He also built several new homes, including a duplex.

After living in Modesto for 18 years, they moved to Riverbank, where he remained in the used furniture business.



Raymond was quiet and took after his mother Becky, saying very little, but when he talked, you listened. I remember his shy little smile.

Effie's laugh was contagious, and she could joke and giggle for hours, having the most fun. The kids loved to be around her. She and Marvelle would turn-on the same TV program (I Love Lucy), watching it together via phone. They would have the greatest time sharing and laughing.

Effie was a widow for 25 years. She enjoyed being around friendly people and liked to play 'Bingo', winning frequently. When she was lonesome, she would spend the night with her sister-in-law, Irene.

Irene Elizabeth Burkett

1912 -- 1991

Henry Irven Landers

1904 -- 1979

Irene and Irven were married in 1938 in La Harpe, Kansas. Irene was the last child to leave home, so it must have left Rebecca with quite a void in her life. Irven was a carpenter, and they lived in La Tour, Missouri, Irven's home town. Later moved to Colorado before moving to Oakdale, California.

David remembers visiting them when they lived in LaTour, Missouri. "They sent me to the store to get some ice cream, and gave me two dimes for the purchase. On the way to the store, I lost one of the dimes. When I returned without the ice cream they were sitting on the front porch. I said 'did you see me drop a dime on the way to the store?'

"On Saturday evening the local movie operator would set-up benches in front of a downtown store, and use the side of the building for a movie screen, on which to project the most recent 'thriller'. The cost, one dime per person.

"When we lived in Joplin, Irven and Irene would make a trip from their home in La Tour to the Farmer's Market in Joplin. He would buy a trailer-load of peaches to sell at a profit at home.

"Later, when we moved to California, we would visit them in Oakdale, and after dinner on warm summer evenings, I would push 'Tommy' in his stroller." Irene and Irven's son Tom was born in Oakdale.

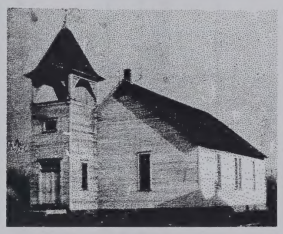
Uncle Irven and Aunt Irene introduced Marvelle to California. They drove her around on day trips to show her the countryside, and also to San Francisco.

In the Fall, Uncle Irven knew where all the best crops were, and hulled many pecans as a night-time activity. He was a fisherman, enjoying deep-sea fishing, and fishing in the Canadian lakes.

Aunt Irene enjoyed keeping house. I remember how she liked to hang clothes out on the line. Everything alike hung together, and the whites and colors were never mixed. She loved her flower garden, and looked forward each Spring to putting out the new plants. She was active in her church and enjoyed visiting with her neighbors.

I remember how much she enjoyed looking through the catalogs (Wards and Sears) at the dresses, when she lived in La Harpe. (Rural communities depended on catalog orders for many of their needs.)

Irene recalled how much fun it was to have older sisters, who were receiving boxes of chocolates from their beau's. Marvelle said "Irene would take a nibble from each piece of candy, then put it back in the box, until she found her favorite."



She remembered sitting among her brothers in church, and being passed down the row, from one to the other.

Irene graduated from high school, and some of her sisters and brothers attended school through the eighth grade. But we have no information about the other children's education. We do know some of the children left school to help out at home and/or assist the family financially.

Her last birthday in March of 1991 was "The best birthday I ever had". Many of the nieces and nephews sent cards or letters, and telephoned to wish her a very special day. But the icing on the cake was the special treat of being entertained for the day by Dona and Bob Jack. One of the highlights of the day, was when Bob video-taped her family with his camcorder. Granddaughter Lindsey enjoyed performing with her dog, and gave them a real show.

This is the extent of our collection of pictures and narratives of the Robert Michael and Rebecca Elizabeth Burkett family.

OBITUARIES

MRS. SARAH KOHLER, nee Laubach, was born February 28, 1850, in Northhamton county, Pa., a daughter of John and Esther Laubach. She was baptized March 30, 1850, and confirmed to membership in the St. John's Reformed church at Howertown, Pa., November 17, 1866. She remained a member of this denomination all her life.

On February 12, 1869, she was united in marriage to Alfred C. Kohler. They came to Allen county, Kansas, on March 5th, 1885, and made this county their home until she passed away October 21, 1915, at her home southeast of LaHarpe.

She leaves her husband, seven children, of which three are sons, and four daughters, and ten grandchildren, as well as many friends who mourn her departure. Interment was at the Moran cemetery. Rev. A. P. Schnatz of the Reformed church officiated at the funeral services, assisted by Rev. Nanninga of the Evangelical church at Golden Valley and Humboldt.

Mrs. Kohler was always known as a loving and devoted mother. Her home was her kingdom. "Well done, good and faithful servant: thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will set thee over many things; enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

ROBERT MICHAEL BURKETT was born June 18, 1866, near Stockton, Cedar county, Mo. When a boy, he moved with his parents to Nevada, Mo., where, in the year 1891, he was united in marriage to Miss Rebecca Brock of Nevada. To this union were born five sons and five daughters, nine of whom are living. In 1897 Mr. and Mrs. Burkett moved to LaHarpe, where they lived happily with their family until death entered their home. Mr. Burkett possessed a noble character and was a devoted husband and a kind and loving father, always patient and during the years of his affliction was never heard to complain. Before his illness he was always ready to offer a helping hand to those in sickness or distress, thus winning for himself many friends. He was converted, but never united with any church, and often during his last illness expressed himself as willing and ready to meet his Saviour.

Mr. Burkett departed this life at 1:15 a. m. October 23, 1915, age 49 years, 4 months and 5 days. He is survived by a wife, nine children, two brothers and a host of friends. Owing to the illness of another member of the family, private funeral services were held at the home Sunday morning, Rev. Stout of the Methodist church officiating. Interment was made in the Moran cemetery.

MISS LULU FRANCES BURKETT, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Burkett, was born near Nevada, Mo., July 1, 1894. In the year 1897 she came with her parents to LaHarpe, where she grew to womanhood. In 1908 she manifested her faith in the Lord Jesus Christ by becoming a member of the Methodist Protestant church, later transferring her membership to the Christian church, where she became a loyal and faithful christian, taking an active part in the church and Sunday school work. In the home life, hers was the leading spirit, being equally as enthusiastic in work as in play, and will be sadly missed by those who were sure of her sympathy whether in time of joy or disappointment. By her pleasant and winning personality, her love for truth and fairness and the careful performance of each duty, she deeply endeared herself in the hearts of many people, by whom she will ever be held in loving remembrance, and who tender their deepest sympathy to the home circle so suddenly broken, in this hour of great bereavement.

Miss Burkett departed this life at 11 p. m. October 25, age 21 years, 3 months and 24 days. She leaves a mother, five brothers, four sisters, many other relatives and a host of friends who long will mourn the loss of one so dear to them.

Funeral services were held at the Christian church in this city Wednesday morning. The body was laid to rest in the Moran cemetery.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our sincere thanks to the many friends for the kind assistance so generously given during the illness and death of our loved ones; also for the beautiful floral offerings. Both were greatly appreciated.

Rebecca 1874 -- 1947

Rebecca lives in our hearts and memories.

Many years ago there were few smiles or happy faces when the camera's eye opened and closed. So we wonder what the subjects' personalities were. We have a first hand account from Peggy Ella Burkett Patterson (Claude's wife).

"Mother (Rebecca) Burkett was like Claude, and I guess the rest (of the family). They never smiled in photographs, but she usually always had a smile, and was such a jolly person to be around. I really enjoyed her and loved her. She was more of a mother to me in my younger years than my own mother. I can remember her taking up for me with Claude. I was never wrong in her eyes, and she would 'get on' Claude."

Erma Watson Burkett said, "What a wonderful person she was. I loved her like I would love my own (mother). She was patient and kind, and helped in every way she could."

Doris Jack Stout said "She always made each one of the grandchildren feel as though they were her favorite."

Madeline Burkett Cox said "I inherited a wonderful grandmother. She took my mom and me into the fold with love."

Laura Penland, a neighbor said "Rebecca was always jolly, looking on the bright side."

Geneva Emery said "Aunt Becky was a sweetheart. We always loved to have her come to visit."

Don, (Will's son), wrote in April 1988 that he had lived with 'Grandma' until about the 4th grade... "Uncle Earl, Claude, Raymond, and Aunts Marvelle and Irene were still living at home at that time. Earl would walk with me to the La Harpe depot on Sunday morning and he bought the Denver Post which had the 'funny papers' in it and Earl would read them to me. I guess I was treated by Earl and Raymond as (sort of like) a child of their own. Marvelle was dating Paul McClelland, which gave me a reason to tease them. And Marvelle would throw things at me, and of course chase me around the house." (During the courtship of Paul and Marvelle, Becky and Raymond tied a rope on the back of the front porch swing, and while Paul and Marvelle were sitting in the swing, Raymond and Becky pulled the rope making the swing go higher and higher. Paul and Marvelle each thought the other was causing the swing to go higher.)

"Earl and Raymond were the ones I played cards with at night. I could never forget that, because they always won.

"As for the memories of Grandma, she must have been under an awful strain without much income. (The 1920 Census showed her as a laundress and other sources indicated she cleaned homes.) Later she got the receptionist job with Albaugh and Lacy, a doctor and a dentist. Lacy later moved to Iola, and I went to him there."

Fred & Earl Burkett & Ray Bowen (on right) bringing home the bacon, woops, rabbits.

Sometimes the winters were very severe. Doris, (Laura's daughter) remembered "Grandmother Burkett told her many times when she went to work, the ice was so thick on the sidewalk, she would have to get down on her knees and crawl across the sidewalk, until she could reach a snow-covered yard to walk on".

Marvelle told us how her mother would heat bricks, wrap them in a towel, and place them between the bed sheets before they retired for the night.

Don continues, saying "I never remember seeing Grandma upset about anything. She gave you the feeling that everything was all right. A feeling of security, which apparently a lot of kids don't get at home with their parents today. I also remember going with her to milk 'Bossie', the little Jersey cow. She didn't give a lot of milk, but was very rich, (I remember being told). Also going to pick dandelion greens as sort of spinach for the table.

"I remember Grandma hanging things on a string or rope into the cistern, to keep cool of course. Most likely butter or milk. I barely remember going to an ice plant in LaHarpe, but I don't remember an ice box at Grandma's house. Times were so tough in the household that among other things, Rebecca made cookies without sugar.

"I remember riding my bike in grade school, East to Rock Creek (in Iola) and getting out on the rubbery ice and falling through up to my chest in the water. Then I was afraid to go home because of sure punishment, so my friend and I rode our bikes on to La Harpe (several miles) where Grandma (Rebecca Elizabeth) had me remove my wet clothes and dried them for me."

Pauleene (Marvelle's daughter) remembers, "In the summer, there were a lot of flies because of all the livestock in the pastures around the house. The wind in Kansas blows continuously (see the coats in the 1890 La Harpe photo), it is not only very exhausting to have constant wind, but makes you irritable, and the flies don't like it either, so they try to come into the house. And with the kids running in and out, they do. So late in the afternoon grandmother pulled all the shades down in the house, and gave each of us a dish towel. We all gathered at the front of the house, waving our towels throughout all the rooms, until the flies gathered near the back door, which was opened and they were waved outside. Sometimes we had to go through the house a second time to drive most of them out.

"In the evenings, we would take our chairs out in the front yard to sit and watch the midnite blue sky, and see the shooting stars. They were exciting to see, there were so many. To this day when I hear doves cooing, I am reminded of all those that were in the area of the garage, and how restful it was to hear them."

Caroleene (Marvelle's daughter) remembers, "The summer I was ten years old, we stayed several weeks at grandmother's house. And it was full of things to remember. Her cornfield seemed huge to me, and I remember when she went out to hoe the weeds in the corn rows, she always wore a sun bonnet. And Uncle Raymond hauled water from Moran, because both cisterns were dry. He had stored cantaloupe in the cistern near the back door. Grandmother wanted to serve some cantaloupe, and waited for Raymond to come with his ladder. But he didn't bring it with him, so he solved the problem by lowering me into the cistern in a bucket, to bring up the melons. I also remember how fastidious grandmother was. She curled the hair around her face every night. She made the curlers from coffee cans, cutting narrow strips, wrapping paper around each one. She wound small sections of her hair around each curler, had a French Roll in back. and wore a night cap.

"Her potato salad was delicious. She always made it with mashed potatoes, and put minced eggs on top."

David McClelland (Marvelle's son), wrote in the Summer of 1999; "I remember La Harpe with corn fields that grew so fast you could hear them growing, and seeing the rabbit trails among the corn rows. Scythes used to cut waist-deep weeds. Ten-inch deep tire ruts after the heavy rains. Placing my ear on the railroad tracks to hear if a train was coming from far away, while on the daily trip to the post office box downtown, to pick up the mail and visit the stores. They sold lemons for 20-cents each, and candy for a penny a piece.

"Digging potatoes out of the ground, with a spade, after a rain, then cutting seed potatoes, leaving an 'eye' in each piece for Spring planting. A tire and rope swing in the side yard, hanging from a stately elm tree. Bib overalls given to the 'tom-girls' that liked to climb trees.

"Grandmother heating water in 20-gallon galvanized tubs over open-pit fires for Saturday baths. (The first one in got the cleanest.) 'Wash boards' in the laundry tubs, and Uncle Raymond making lye bar-soap of potash from the open-pit fires. Heavy flat-irons, with removable half-moon handles, heated on the cook-stove on ironing days.

"The natural gas lamps in the house, with 'skin' globes. Mice holes in the base-boards, and a cat on 'patrol'. 'Thunder mugs' in the closets to avoid the long trip to the 'outhouse' in the middle of the night, and the two-seat outhouse equipped with newspapers, Ward's catalogues and corn cobs.

"Making patch-work quilts and attaching them to the quilt frames. Sewing the panels together at six-inch intervals to hold them." (The quilting frames would be up in the living room for days.)

"The cistern close to the back door, where rain from the roof drained through gutters, to the cistern, where the water was stored for drinking and household uses. And my sister Caroleene being lowered in to the cistern in a bucket, to bring up the melons that were stored there to keep cool.

"Homemade bread rising under a dish towel, to be popped in to the oven. A pop corn popper with a string handle. Ice cream makers with crank-handles and paddles to lick clean.

"Grandmother Burkett did most of the above, and more, before she woke up the rooster."

We all would send our grandmother cards and letters. Joan and Rosemary Bowen (about 12 and 11) made their grandmother greeting cards. The message read "To My Grandmother, wherever she is on Easter".

Rebecca had a large scrapbook, where she kept each of her cards/letters, noting the year in which she received them. There were 60 pages of greeting and post cards, dating back to 1910. More than 300 St. Patrick's Day, Easter, Mother's Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas Cards, plus birth announcements. This collection included cards/letters from friends, all her children, many grandchildren and her parents, sisters and brothers. Her treasures! These have all been returned to the senders or descendants, if known.

Grandmother lived alone, off and on from 1938, after Irene was married. She spent some of her time traveling around to visit her children. (The reason her granddaughters Joan and Rosemary did not know where she was on Easter Day.)

She was very fair, and tried to stay the same amount of time with each of her children and their families. We wished we could keep her all of the time, but we had to share.

When she came to visit we would catch-up on the family news. She carried pictures in her suitcase, and knew where everyone was, and what was happening in their lives. She wrote a letter almost every day, keeping in touch with her brothers and sisters also.

I remember she had to be busy every minute. She would stitch blocks of fabric (from the factory where Marvelle worked), on the sewing machine, which she had neatly cut out. She was working on a comforter, and made one for each of her families. It was double bed size, lined and tacked with yarn.

Sometimes she would braid long strips of fabric, and then crochet them in to a round, or oblong rug, big or small.

She was concerned about being away from her home for long periods of time. 'Will' tried to keep up with some of the maintenance. She found it difficult to pay her taxes, and an entry in her notebook read, "I got my first pension check in April 1940, and the pension stopped in 1944." Irven Landers paid her taxes in 1944. In 1945 her home was sold, so she returned to sell what she could and made a list of what she sold. (See following.) She returned all the gifts she had been given, to those who had given them to her, making a list of each one. (See following.)

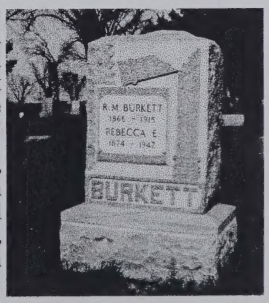
Iola Abstract Company recorded the sale on December 13, 1945. The following snapshots record her last day in the home she had shared with Mike for about 15 years, and another 23 additional years with her children Living alone for seven years after Irene was married in 1938. She was a widow for 32 years.

Rebecca Elizabeth passed on in 1947, in the home of her son Claude, and daughter-in-law, Peggy Ella., who wrote... "In August 1947, she came to visit Claude and me. She had just left her son Fred's home (in West Monroe, Louisana), and was on her way to California to visit her family. I was at home at the time as I had received an injury at the (International Paper) plant.

"I've always enjoyed baseball, and she didn't care for it. But when the Kraftmen Ball Club game (which was our paper-mill team), was broadcast on the radio, I would listen, and she would hear it too. Our announcer, Cal Carter would get so excited when our team was winning (and so downhearted when they were losing) that Rebecca finally became very interested. (Although I think it was the way the announcer talked.) She eventually became so interested she would ask if we had a game that night. We didn't have TV in those days, and only one radio in the house.

"On her last night, I had cooked skillet cornbread, and turned it out on the plate, bottom side up. During supper I kept asking if she wanted a piece, and she would say 'not now'. After we went to bed, we were talking room to room, and I said Mother Burkett, don't you like cornbread, and she answered 'yes, I love it with milk'. I said, well you didn't eat any at supper. She answered, 'I thought that was cake'. I laughed at that and she said 'I think I'll get up and eat some cornbread and milk', then asked what time it was, then went on to say 'well, I guess I'd better not, the girls told me not to eat after 9 p.m., so I'll just have that for breakfast'.

"About 3 a.m. she said she had indigestion, and asked for help in getting up. As soon as I was at her bedside, I knew something was wrong, so I awakened Claude and sent him for the doctor. She rapidly became worse, and broke out in perspiration. I took her in my arms and was wiping her face with a damp cloth, when she passed away. She had told me at one time she had palpitations of the heart. The doctor said she died of a heart attack, and if he had been here when it happened, he could not have saved her. It meant a lot to me when he told me that."



She died August 27th, 1947. Laid to rest with Robert Michael and Lula in the Moran, Kansas Cemetery on August 31st, 1947.

Last card from Rebecca Elizabeth

Rebecca wrote this card just two days before she passed on, and the card was delivered a day or two after they had been notified of her demise.

Rebecca was in a quandary as to whether she should return to West Monroe for 'Ronnie's operation', or wait an additional week.

Mr. Flag Speaking

A MAN TOOK ME DOWN THE OTHER DAY,
AND IN A VOICE SO LOUD AND CLEAR,
I HEARD HIM TELL A FRIEND OF HIS,
"WELL, THAT'S THAT FOR ANOTHER YEAR".

HE WRAPPED ME UP SO NICE AND NEAT,
AND THEN DID SOMETHING DRASTIC.
HE STUCK ME IN A CLOSET.
AND COVERED ME WITH PLASTIC.

I GUESS I'M TOO MUCH TROUBLE
TO TAKE UP AND DOWN EACH DAY,
NO HANDY PLACE TO STORE ME,
AND I'D JUST GET IN THE WAY.

HIS NEIGHBOR, JUST ACROSS THE STREET,
HAS A LIGHT THAT SHINES SO BRIGHT,
HE LEAVES ME THERE A WAVING,
EVERYDAY AND EVERY NIGHT.

I'M TELLING YOU THAT I FEEL PROUD
AS I LOOK DOWN FROM UP ABOVE,
AND IT'S NICE TO FEEL I'M TREATED,
WITH A LITTLE TENDER LOVE.

BUT I'M REALLY NOT COMPLAINING,
IT'S SO NICE TO BE AROUND,
HANGING LIMPLY FROM A WALL,
OR A POST STUCK IN THE GROUND.

AND DID YOU EVER THINK HOW NICE IT FEELS,
AS A PARADE GOES MARCHING BY,
AND SOME FOLKS STILL SALUTE ME,
AS MY BANNERS WAVE ON HIGH.

A VETERAN DIED THE OTHER DAY,
AND AS I LAID UPON HIS GRAVE,
I REMEMBERED HOW HE FOUGHT THE WAR,
AND I REMEMBERED HE WAS BRAVE

HE WAS NOT AFRAID TO SHOW ME,
AND TO MAKE ME STAND ARIGHT.
HE FOUGHT TO KEEP ME STANDING
AND TO KEEP MY COLORS BRIGHT

A PRISONER OF WAR CAME ON A SHIP,
SALUTED AND STARTED IN TO CRY.
AND SAID, "YOU'RE THE PRETTIEST FLAG
I'VE EVER SEEN,
AS HE SAW ME WAVE ON HIGH.

AND BUILDINGS ALL AROUND THE WORLD,
DISPLAY OLD GLORY THERE,
THAT'S MY NICK NAME, DON'T YOU KNOW?
IT MEANS THEY REALLY CARE.

BUT MOST OF ALL AS I LOOK BACK TO THE PLACES I HAVE BEEN,
A BATTLEFIELD, A CLASSROOM, AN OFFICE
OR A HALL,
I'D RATHER BE BATTERED, WORN AND TORN,
THAN NOT BE SEEN AT ALL

More Notes on the Burkett Family History

Through the Burkett Family questionnaires we have collected a lot of information about our family members;
There are:

Six generations of Burketts from the union of Mike and Becky. Ten children, 30 grandchildren, (18 survivors) and 220 great-grandchildren (including partners), as of September 1999.

There are four Masonic Order members, three have attained 32nd Degree status. And some Eastern Star members.

Among the great-grandchildren, a number of teachers, two engineers, an editor, psychologist, librarian, realtor, nurse, mechanic, occupational therapist, attorney, pediatric radiologist, firefighter, computer specialists and many others too numerous to list here.

We need some narratives, stories about you, your parents, children and grandchildren.

For instance; Sherry, Teri and Nola, your father's experiences in the Air Force as a tail-gunner during World War II would be very interesting, and a great story to preserve for the grandchildren of the Allen Jack family. Do you have a picture of your grandparents, Laura and Elmer, preferably together? A Xerox-copy is usually adequate for older pictures.

We have sad stories in our lives also:
You may remember this headline in your newspaper: "CALIFORNIA STATE POLICE OFFICER SLAIN WHILE ON DUTY. Bob and Dona Jack's son, David Arthur Jack, 21 years old, was shot, at close range October 21, 1974, as he worked the front desk in a state office building. (State Police are generally assigned to guard state property, and high state officials.) He and other officers are honored in the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial in Washington, DC. Bordering the Memorial's beautifully landscaped park are two tree-lined "pathways of remembrance" where over 13,500 officers' names, dating back to 1794 are engraved on marble walls. David's name is on Panel 52E, Line 5.

Louisiana Cousins; Robert, Jackie, Ronald and Johnny.
Please tell us about your parents, yourselves, brothers, sisters, and your children. When did your father settle in West Monroe? Was your Mom a native of Louisiana? Tell us about your lives on your beautiful lakes and rivers. We need a picture of your parents, preferably together. A Xerox-copy is usually adequate for older pictures.
We were very pleased to receive correspondence from Linda (daughter of Herbert) and Teresa, (daughter of Ronald). Please send us some stories, and copies of your family pictures.

Now, to everyone. Before you get busy with Holiday activities, please send us some family stories.

One easy way to collect information is to record a conversation in which you ask questions, like:

Where have you lived?
Tell us about your childhood memories.
When and where Mom and Dad met? Ask about their early years with the children.
Describe some special events in your life. (For example, Military Service, etc.)

This method gives you time to prepare your stories, and not be concerned about forgetting the facts.

Our Burkett Family New Year's resolution should be to bring the family history up to date.

Pat Burkett Stempski (Don's daughter) writes about her Grandparents Will and Erma Burkett;

"I didn't know my grandfather Burkett well, even though he lived close to my parents all of my life. He had a good deal of personal charm and, in later years, I thought he looked a lot like Will Rogers. He liked joking and playing tricks on people and his humor could at times verge on bullying. As young children, my brother Donald and I did not enjoy his rough and tumble style, but our baby brother David laughed when grandfather tossed him in the air and they bonded early. Grandfather was always hard of hearing and later I wondered if perhaps his aggressive, joking style was not a way to control conversation and to mask the fact that he probably could not hear most of the conversing going on around him.

"Grandfather had been a traveling salesman before his marriage. He always loved to sell. As children, we thought he could sell anybody anything. He only had a grade school education, but in the depth of the Depression he supported his family by working as a road construction superintendent. He supervised the construction of many of the first paved roads in Allen County, KS. Later he built and sold houses in Johnson County KS, including the one I grew up in at 4912 Wells Drive.

Will & Erma's third home.

"My earliest memory of Grandfather was being frightened and hiding when he dressed up in a Santa suit. A later memory was his fondness for playing jokes on people in grocery stores. For example, he would sneak a box of Kotex into an elderly woman's shopping basket, then hang around to watch her reaction at the check-out stand.

"Grandfather loved Blackjack gum, and was never without it. He always offered us gum whenever we saw him. I don't think I ever did anything to interest Grandfather until the summer I turned twenty (1963) when I had a summer job selling encyclopedias. Now that was something an old traveling salesman could understand!

"I was living in Saigon, Viet-Nam when Grandfather died in 1967. I regret that I never really had the opportunity to know him after I became an adult. I know nothing about how he felt about life."

"Grandmother Erma Watson Burkett once told me that she thought parents should keep one child at home to care for them in their old age. That was actually a natural sentiment for her generation, growing up as they did in large families where having at least one child left at home was common; however, Grandmother had only three children and they all married, two of them, Jean and Dale, moved away from Kansas City, so my Dad, Donald Burkett became the child they depended on. My Grandparents always lived within walking distance of my parent's house in Roeland Park, Shawnee Mission, Kansas.

"I have no early memories of Grandmother or Grandfather, although Mother and I visited with them regularly while my father was overseas during the war. In the first few years of my life I had very blue eyes, and very tanned, olive skin. Grandmother once took a washrag to my tan, convinced she could uncover a pink and white grandchild underneath. Her ideal of beauty was round-faced and blonde, but I grew up brunette and angular, not her type. To make matters worse, I couldn't sing, or play the piano.

"Grandmother and I never had a close or loving relationship; however as we both grew older we developed a relationship of a different sort. I found Erma somewhat puzzling, but very interesting. I enjoyed listening to stories about her life, and she enjoyed telling them. I suppose I redeemed myself somewhat in her eyes by having a fair daughter, Rebecca, who could also play the piano "by ear" and in a style very much like the way Erma played the piano. Also, one day when we were visiting from Dallas, I sat down next to Erma on the piano bench and held out my hands next to hers. "Look, Grandma,", I said, "I have your hands. "Why, she exclaimed, "you're one of us!" Alas, now in my 50's, I seem to have inherited her body type as well. Would that I had her singing voice instead!

"Grandmother was about 60, and lived across the street from us. She had a large, olive-green poster hung at the head of her bed. The poster pictured a frog on a lily pad, and underneath the picture was the inscription: "Don't croak. It May Not Happen." At the time, I always wondered what that poster was an omen against..

"Grandmother lived a long life, surviving all of her siblings. She always loved animals. She told me once that she broke off an early engagement because she saw her beau abuse a horse. During my childhood, she had a dog Skeeter that she adored. She loved nature, the seasons, flowers and California, though she could never bring herself to settle there permanently, and of course, she loved playing her piano and singing and performing. She enjoyed writing and worked at it seriously as a craft, frequently submitting poems and short stories for publication, not without some success. Her favorite TV show in her later years was "Little House on the Prairie". Following are excerpts from her life story. She worked very hard for much of her life, keeping long hours at her beauty shops in Iola and later Westport, K.C., Missouri to help support her family during the depression, and she took responsibility for caring for her Mother during her long years of illness. I never heard her complain about her lot in life. My dad loved her and I found her interesting. I also thought she could "Irritate, Job", but for the most part that's another story!"

P.S.

"Although she never complained and preferred to remember the good times, in many ways Erma's life was quite tragic; Between 1903 - 1910 she lost three sisters to disease and accident, her father to a stroke; the family moved to three separate towns; her sister Lucille, accidently burned down a hotel where the family was living, and her Mother remarried to Wes George, who had been the husband of her late sister Ida. Wes made Erma very mad when he was 'mean' to her Mother. So much tragedy and disruption must have had a profound effect on the surviving children."

Pat Stempski

Following are excerpts from her life story as written by Erma Watson Burkett:

"I remember hearing my mother tell all about her life when she and Father were first married. Father's name was Eugene Watson, and Mother's was Anna Eliza Breeden. They were married at Nashville, Jackson County, IA in 1883. Only two miles from his birthplace. His father was John Watson, a corn farmer, and his mother Eunice Viets Watson. She was a poet, and I have a book of her poems, all written in a beautiful hand.

"When my grandparents died, the folks sold the farm and bought a home in Baldwin, IA, where I was born. I can still remember my life in Baldwin. Dad was a school teacher. The school was atop a hill, and our home just below 'Watson Hill', so named for my Dad. He loved children. He installed a blackboard in our kitchen, and lots of nights he would help the neighbor children with their lessons. They would crawl all over him in his big easy-chair.

"When I was eight, a very rich uncle of my Father died. He left a red chest for Dad. We thought it was full of clothes, but when we opened it, it was full of money! There were pockets inside, and each was full of 1000-dollar bills, and all different amounts. There was a fortune in that box! It was divided with Dad's two brothers, Edgar and Leslie Watson. Leslie was a lawyer, and he got more than his share, but we were quite wealthy from then on. Uncle Mott had never married.

"I don't know if Dad gave up teaching, but I do remember we had a store after that. Mother had a hired-girl to run our house, and she helped Dad in the store. I remember you got candy whenever you paid your bill, and everyone got candy at Christmastime

"We moved to Spirit Lake, IA in 1901. Women all wore hats then, so mother went to St. Paul, MN and took a course in hat trimming. Dad bought a contraption called the 'Shoot the Shoots', which was a large flat-bottom boat, holding about 20 people. It was attached to a cable that pulled it up a hill, where everyone boarded the boat, then it would slide down the hill, hit the water with a huge splash and scooted out across the lake.

"Later we moved to a farm near Moundville, MO, near the Ozark Mountains, for my sister Mina's health, but she died from TB when she was only 16. My oldest sister Lottie was a school teacher, and 21 when she lost her voice. She never learned to talk again. They called it paralysis of the tongue. My father also died on that farm. Mother was left with five children. We tried to farm, but we finally gave it up and moved to Hiawatha, KS, where we rented a big hotel called the Hiawatha House. Mother hired a woman to cook and all us girls helped waiting tables. The courthouse was just across the street, and I chummed with the jailer's daughter. Our stay in Hiawatha ended when a clothes closet on the first floor caught on fire.

"Hamlin, KS was a very small town where everyone knew everyone else. We rented another big hotel with a barber shop in the basement. We developed quite a business there, making and delivering 'basket lunches' to the trainmen, and for the townspeople, hot biscuits on Sunday night.. This was where Mother gave me 12 piano lessons, That's all the instruction I ever had, but I loved to play, and practiced steady with no help.

"Then something happened which changed our lives completely. Mother's sister, Ida George died. About a year later Wes George, Mother's brother-in-law visited us. He asked Mother to marry him.

Don Burkett writes about his father; William Lafayette Burkett, known as 'Bill'.

"My sister Jean recently said 'she really never knew him.' It's really not hard to understand this remark, as he usually came home on a weekend every two or three weeks, depending on the distance to travel, and the type of weather or time of year. Also, travel was not like today. Cars with very little heat averaged about 35 miles per hour, not like 65 today, and roads were not always paved.

"Dad was in the right occupation for the early nineteen hundreds, as he was a concrete man, replacing dirt roads, which the country was in bad need of doing, and therefore receiving government contracts for paved roads.

"For having only a sixth or eighth grade education, he was, I guess, what you would call a self-made Civil Engineer. He was always reading construction books when at home. One time when he was putting in some basins at the Water Works plant in Ft. Scott, Kansas, I watched as he laid some blueprints on the dining room table, glanced at them for only a few minutes, then folded and put them away. He was most always a Foreman or Superintendent on road jobs, bridges and viaducts. One time when crossing one of the two bridges crossing the Missouri River, he said he had worked on that bridge, putting the supports in the water.

"Jean said she could never remember her Dad sitting at the table, eating dinner with us, and neither do I. Also he had to return to work early on Sunday afternoon.

"When he came home on a Saturday night, I cleaned the mud out of the car, a 1930 or 31 Model A Ford two-door, so my friends and I could use the car. He always had a clean car to go back to work in, but I doubt he ever noticed it.

"One summer when I was still in high school, he got me a job finishing concrete as a short-handled finisher on a paved road going in to Raytown, MO. My job was finishing-up joints that were cut to allow expansion and keep the concrete from buckling.

"Dad was what I would call a practical joker, and so he let me go to work my first day wearing almost new dress-trousers, and a slip-on sweater I know he must have told the men to watch and see how long it would take me to take that sweater off, and hang it on a fence-post, which I did at once, as it was the hot 30's. But I was big for my age, and work didn't hurt me, although it was a surprise to see how hard he worked in those days, to make a living.

"The concrete mixer would start pouring concrete at six in the morning, but it was always eight or eight-thirty before it was dry enough to start finishing. By then, the mixer would be a block ahead of us, so we had to work fast to keep the concrete from drying and getting too hard to work.

"My time before I could start finishing at eight was used in going over the previous days work with a four-foot level on wheels, and mark the high places and then use a stone with a handle on it to rub them down. The other finisher, an older man, name of Claude Orchard, and I caught up with the mixer when it shut down for noon. The mixer shut down at six, but it was always around 8:30 before we caught up for the day. By the time we got back into the city, I just hit the couch and had to be awakened for dinner. Then the next thing I knew, it was 4:30AM, and time to get up for another long, hard day.

"These men worked hard, there was no union, or eight-hour day, just twenty-five cents an hour with no overtime pay. Claude got 40 cents an hour. After awhile, Uncle Earl, a form setter on the job, told me that I was doing just as good a job as Claude, and he thought I should get more pay, but because of my age, I think Dad was afraid to pay me more and I didn't ask, as I was just glad to have a job working with these men. They were always finding things to laugh at, making it seem important to share my life with them.

"Uncle Earl rode back and forth to work with us. He worked as a form-setter. The only time I worked with Earl, was when we were cleaning up the shoulders on each side of the pavement, after the paving was finished. We were cleaning out the dirt under a new culvert, and I think Earl was testing my endurance to see if I could keep up with him shoveling. It must have seemed strange to him after spending time caring for me when I was preschool age living with Grandma, when my Mother was in the tuberculosis sanitarium. He would walk me down to the train depot to buy the Denver Post, as it had a lot of funnies for him to read to me.

"It must have been between jobs, but Dad did find time to build me a rowboat. A nice 14-foot one to use on the Neosho River. I'm sure he was never in it. I kept it tied at the Iola Fairgrounds, and turned the key over to Uncle Ray (Raymond Burkett) when we left Iola.

"When Dad was a young boy, he fell off a roof, and broke his foot. There was no way to get it set in those days, no x-rays even, so Dad spent the rest of his life walking with a bad foot. The arch was protruding outward, making a 'ball' to walk on. However, he was able to pitch baseball for the LaHarpe team. Uncle Earl said that Dad had a curve ball that was hard to hit.

"I grew up with a catcher's mitt. I told Earl that somehow I should have gotten in to baseball. Earl said he knew why, because my Dad would throw me those curve balls almost before I got out of diapers, and scared me to death.

"When we lived in LaHarpe, in that home with all the Cedar Trees around it, I liked to jump on the running board of the Model T Ford, as Dad pulled into the yard from work. He told me not to do this as I might get hurt. However, I found that I could jump on the running board back of him, and he couldn't see me. But one day he pulled into the yard and stopped, I put my foot down too soon, and the back wheel stopped on top of my foot. Earl was working with Dad at the time, and before Earl went into the house, he looked back and said 'come on Don', and when I didn't come, he came back to see why, and he picked up the wheel, and carried me in to the house. I never did experience any problem with my right foot, so no broken bones.

"I realize a lot of this write-up on my Father, includes a part of my life.

"Later in life, after marriage, Dad built the house we still live in. We bought the lot for a thousand dollars, and got a $6000 loan. He built three other homes in this part of town, but never could make enough profit to really get into the construction business, and maybe after retirement he was getting too old to get involved.

"When Dad was 76, he got a cholesterol block in the main artery between the heart and the lungs, which took his life. This was in 1967. Had he lived another year he might have been saved, because in 1968, heart by-pass was started."

It all happened so fast. I guess Mother was tired of making it on her own, and very soon we moved to a big farm of 200 acres between Downs and Lebanon, KS. There were 10 of us children in the combined families. I was in the eighth grade at the time. Mother sent me to Manhattan College, to train as a teacher, which took only a year. When I came home, I went right out and got a school, as I knew I would be ready to teach in the Fall.

"I still had to attend summer school, so I went to Nevada, Missouri, and stayed with my sister Elsie (Mrs. Leonard) Brock to attend summer school. They lived with Sarah Frances and Lafayette Brock. Will Burket came to visit them while I was there. We fell terribly in love, but he was a traveling salesman and had to keep going, so we corresponded for a year. I knew I would soon marry, so I gave up my school, and took work in a 'candy palace' in Nevada. I paid my way, and helped Elsie with their three children. They were sure full of mischief. One time Glessner took the electric clippers and cut a path from back to front across the top of Glady's hair. Just ruined it!

"Grandma Brock treated me just like one of the family, I liked her so very much. Poor Grandpa was stone deaf, but we all seemed happy there together. Will proposed to me at Christmas 1912. We were married 19 February 1913 at the Methodist Church in Nevada. We took the train to LaHarpe, KS the next day, and soon I was learning to love Rebecca and her 10 children.

"After Mother's second husband died, she sold the farm, and bought a 30-acre farm between Gas City and Iola, KS. We lived with her when Jean was born (I had lost so much weight during my pregnancy, they kept me three months in a TB Sanitarium. just to 'build me up').

"Mother came to our house in 1926, and died in 1937. Don and Jean were good help. Don would lift her from her wheelchair to her 'potty chair', and Jean would wait on her. Only one thing aggravated the kids; Mother just had to have a particular spoon to eat with, and there was hardly a meal someone didn't have to search for that particular spoon."

"Until now I have not spoken about my Army Service during World War II, as my wife's brother, David Houston was killed in action, November 1944, and I did not want to bring back old memories. The last letter from David to his Mother stated he had just been assigned as a machine-gunner. The next letter was from the War Department, stating he had been killed. However, since I am getting along in years, and as my daughter Pat requested, I submit the following:

"I enlisted February 21, 1941, not in the best of health. I had been visiting the doctor weekly for shots to help me acquire some weight. I was so underweight when I enlisted, they sent me for an examination at Ft. Leavenworth, KS, to check for TB, then to the Base Hospital at Fort Riley, KS, where I was assigned duty in the Registrar's Office in February 1941. Since I was delayed for the examination, I never did have any 'Basic Training'.

"Fort Riley was a Cavalry installation, and it was not unusual to see parades with horses pulling cannon, at a time when one could read about Hitler's mechanized forces. My first job was to go to each of the 32 wards and pick up the morning Ward Report. With this information, I was able to compile a consolidated report. A copy of the report went to the Mess Hall, so they would know how many meals to prepare.

"Junction City was the nearest town to the fort. On my only visit to town (to purchase a billed cap, MacArthur style), I was surprised to see the long lines of soldiers waiting at the houses of prostitution. This was of particular interest to me, as I had to report Venereal cases to the hospital, and the County Health authorities. In light of what I saw in Junction City, it seemed like a lost cause.

"I was transferred to Camp Crowder (near Joplin) MO in December 1941. The camp was not completed yet, and I was placed in charge of the Dispensary. Emergency cases were sent by ambulance to the hospital at Springfield. The rail tracks ran through the camp, and frequently AWOL soldiers would return to camp by train in order to miss the gate inspections. Frequently they were too drunk to get off the train, or passed-out on the tracks. For awhile it seemed at least once a week a soldier would be killed by a passing train. I can remember going to the morgue, and fishing around in a tub of body parts looking for 'dog-tags' to notify the authorities and families.

"Once a week I was on 'call' all night. This involved accompanying a physician to check the seriously ill. We had a number of deaths due to pneumonia until 'Sulfa Drugs' became available. We also had a case of Rocky Mtn. 'Spotted Fever'. (Tick Fever.)

"During my assignment at Camp Crowder, I married Betty (Helen Elizabeth Houston) on 14 June 1942, and had enough rank to draw separate rations, and live off-base. We had an apartment in Joplin, not far from Aunt Marvelle's home.

"I was transferred to Camp Carson, CO, where I was assigned to the newly activated 124th Station Hospital, and placed in charge of personnel making up the payroll, checking each soldier's medical records, shots and insurance papers were in order before shipping overseas. We made a lot of 'full-pack' hikes into the mountains. As a Medical Unit, we never again experienced this much exercise, but it gave the troops something to do, and kept them in good physical condition.

"While stationed at Camp Carson, Betty and I had an apartment in Colorado Springs. We shared the kitchen with the landlady. While sitting at the breakfast table we could see Pike's Peak, and knew the type of weather to expect from the clouds around the mountain. Betty would hike to the camp any day she knew I had time off, but knowing we would soon ship out, so Betty returned to Kansas City to deliver our first child, Pat. I got a short furlough to Kansas City for the event in June 1943.

"In September we shipped-out, to Milne Bay, New Guinea. Left Camp Carson by steam train to Camp Stoneman, California, where we boarded a barge to move in to San Francisco Bay, passed Alcatraz and boarded the converted luxury liner "America", which had been renamed "West Point" for the duration. We were told there were 7000 troops on board.

"I was lucky to get a berth with a porthole, so I could have fresh air, which helped to endure the sea-sickness, which lasted the full two-week voyage. Some of the guys never got off their backs during the two weeks. I made it up to the open deck at least an hour every day, and many times thought how nice it would be to be a sailor riding the waves, if only I didn't get sick.

"Before leaving, we were issued all new 'winter clothes', but on arrival in Sydney, Australia, we 'traded' all our winter clothes for summer uniforms. The winter clothes were no doubt re-issued to troops returning to the 'states. We set-up camp at a race-track named 'Warwick Farms' and were issued a mattress cover and a blanket. It was early Spring there, and nights were cold. I could never decide if I slept colder with the blanket over or under me.

"We left Sydney in November 1943, by train to Brisbane. Here I had to make up a payroll and march the men to Base Finance for pay. The Finance Officer here was named Miller, and I mention him because we became better acquainted a year later when we met in the Philippines.

"We departed Brisbane a few days later on a hospital ship returning for more wounded, and landed in Milne Bay, New Guinea. We were told to keep our leggings on as protection from mosquitoes and snakes.

"Prefab buildings were erected, with screened windows. The glass windows were not necessary due to the heat, but screens were. The wards had a roof overhang of three to four feet, to keep the rain out. It usually rained sometime every day, and came down with such force you could hear it approaching. 140 to 180 inches of rain a year was considered normal.

"Since I was the only man trained in registrar work, I had to get organized at once to admit patients, and keep their records.

"A Volley Ball net was erected, but no one seemed to know the game, so I taught the men and scheduled games with other organizations.

"There was always someone on duty at night to admit patients, and I stayed late to write letters and help with any emergency. One night I called for the physician to care for a new arrival with burns. When he did not show up immediately, I called the Commanding Officer, and this got an immediate response. I used my tent only to sleep and shower.

"At one time we had to open two extra wards just to care for VD cases returning from Australia. Penicillin had just become available, and the Ward Nurse told me one of the soldiers asked her if we had that new drug 'Penisillin'.

"After a year, we left New Guinea on a Liberty Ship named "McGority" with an Australian Captain. The first night out we ran aground. When morning arrived, I could see a small island in front of us with a single palm tree. Something like one might see in the movies. Tug boats and a tanker tried for two days to pull us off the reef without success. Finally they pumped bunker fuel from the ship, which freed us, but we were left listing so much we had to lean when walking on deck.

"We finally arrived at Milne Bay on the Northern tip of New Guinea, and were told we had missed the convoy to the Philippines, and would have to wait until the next. I've always thought the convoy we missed was probably the original invasion force.

"Arriving in the Philippines at night we could hear the anti-aircraft guns and see tracer bullets in the distance. The next day the artillery continued until noon, then quieted. My friend went topside to take a salt-water shower. While on deck, Japanese planes approached, and our ship began firing. The cannons at each end rocked the ship and caused it to toss about in the water like a toy. All the men on deck scrambled for cover. My friend, wet from his shower, ran toward a hatch, jumped on the back of a man descending, and disappeared. He was naked and wet, and I wondered if he fell. Later he said he just slid from one soldier to the next all the way down.

"Eventually a barge pulled alongside to take us ashore. Early the next morning there was another raid, and at least one plane strafed the beach. Next we were told we were unloaded on the 'wrong side of the bay', so we were loaded back on a barge for a long day-trip across the bay. It should have only been an hour trip, but the pilot didn't know the bay, and kept getting stuck on sand bars. Fortunately, our P-38's were overhead, and kept the Japanese Zero's at bay.

"Arriving at our destination, we were told our unit would not be activated, instead we would be transferred to another hospital. However, because of my rank, I was transferred to a casual camp near MacArthur's headquarters. I volunteered to help sort mail while awaiting assignment.

"At one time I was on duty at a Field Hospital, receiving casualties from the front. On one occasion I was assisting a doctor by holding up a soldier's good leg, while the physician made a clean cut on his other leg which had been blown off. On another occasion we were awakened in the middle of the night and told the Japanese had taken a bridge and were headed our way. We were given rifles still covered in packing grease, and assigned positions around the perimeter of the hospital. We busied ourselves cleaning the grease off the rifles. As dawn approached, we could see truck loads of soldiers heading toward the front, and we were soon relieved of our duty.

"Except while on ship during air attacks, I only experienced one other incident where I felt threatened: Riding in a weapons carrier one day when a Kamikaze pilot, flying not much higher than the treetops came toward us. We stopped and 'hit the ditch'. I could feel the awful impact of the bullets hitting around me, but none of the three of us was hit. I watched as the pilot pulled up, and it was no time until he was hit, as anti-aircraft guns from all around cut loose on him. I had to wonder why the pilot would risk his life on such a small target.

"Since we were so close to the air strip, we experienced many air raids, especially at night. At times the ground would be shaking around us, keeping us in our fox holes. Maybe I was frightened then, but mostly I remember watching the tracer-bullets.

"In December 1944 I was ordered to report to the Commanding Officer, and discovered he was, the Finance Officer I had worked for in Australia, the Capt. Miller. He gave me a Government Manual which set out the procedure for carrying out the operation, and said to let him know how many men I would need to do the job.

"After reading the manual, I requisitioned a ward tent I had seen empty while working at the hospital, and set up a place for me to work with the assistance of other unassigned men. We extended the working space by putting the tent side-flaps up on poles. Acquired 36 boxes from the PX, some 2x4's, hammer and nails from Supply to build working benches, desks and typewriters from Base Supply, and we were in business.

"Every time our base would 'fill-up', Port Command would call to let us know how many they could take stateside. We handled all the Soldiers and Airmen, and had to figure the ratio, as there were less Airmen than Soldiers. The Air Corps always sent men and typewriters to help. Sometimes we would type stencils all day and all night. I remember one occasion it was noon the next day before we finished. We also returned men by air in case of emergency at home.

"I was guilty of 'bending the rules' on a couple occasions; Once Airmen had a movie star to return to the 'states, and I told them only if he had an emergency. (I'm sure, had their C.O. requested this of my C.O., it would have been approved.) Another time was when Sgt. Reingart, the friend who had requested my Master Sergeant rating wanted to fly home. Once I returned by air... but then I really did have an 'emergency'. I hadn't seen my bride and daughter in 21 months.

"At one time the Army released Civilian prisoners that had been in a Japanese Prison Camp. They expected to return immediately, and were an unhappy group when I told them the military had priority and they would have to wait until space was available on a ship.

"When the 'Point System' came about as a means of releasing soldiers who had been in the service the longest, I was near the top of the list with my four and a half years, and 21 months overseas, and was on my way home in June 1945.

"Enroute home we were on a paratrooper plane, midway between Leyete and Guam when two of the engines stopped. However, in no time I saw smoke coming out of those engines, with the propellers beginning to turn again. Then someone came out of the captain's cabin, and apologized. They had been playing cards in the cockpit, and the engineers forgot to switch fuel tanks. We made it to Guam, and after dinner were put on a plush airliner for our trip to Hawaii.

"On arrival at Hickam Field in Hawaii, we were put on a 15-minute alert, which lasted two days. Finally enroute again, we stopped at Johnson Island for dinner. The cook yelled 'How would you guys like to have all the bacon and eggs you can eat, and all the milk you can drink?'. A roar of approval went up.

"Arriving at Hamilton Field near San Francisco, I got a pass and went to a USO to call Betty and let her know of my safe arrival. I'll never forget the weather, because about 3pm it clouded over and felt as though it might snow. Then I realized it really wasn't that cold, it was just because I had returned from 21 months in the tropics.

"The next day we took a boat across San Francisco Bay, and boarded a train to Leavenworth, KS. On arrival I was declared 'Essential', and sent for duty at Base Finance. The officer in charge tried to get men interested in their problems, but my interest was only in getting out of the Army, so they gave up and discharged me.

"On arrival in Kansas City, the taxi pulled up in front of a Second Hand Store. I said 'This can't be the place', but it was her Aunt's building in Old Westport. By staying there, Betty had saved enough to help with the down-payment on our new home."

Dear Cousins, and Aunt Ella,

Although we knew for 18 cousins (originally 30) and one Aunt to gather in the same place at the same time would be a minor miracle, we always wished it could happen.

Jean, Dale, Madelin, Bob, Jackie, Ronald, Johnnie, Tom, and Aunt Ella. This part of the letter is especially for you, because you could not be with us, and we missed all of you.

We share with you "The Reunion":

There were 53 of us present. WOW! Count the Bowen Family Members! Can you imagine Aunt Callie and Uncle Ray looking down with great pride? Attendees traveled to the reunion from Arizona, California, Florida, Kansas, Oregon and Washington.

Don, Caroleene,Pauleene Allen Virginia

This was the first reunion in 70 years for the five cousins pictured. The snapshot on the right was taken at Christmastime 1929-30 at Grandmother Burkett's home.

"A Get Acquainted Pre-Burkett Reunion Dessert"

Rosemary (Callie's daughter), and Robert Cornwell invited those who arrived before Saturday to their home on Friday evening.

We Arrive:

On arrival Saturday morning, each family posed beneath a very attractive banner, created by Bob Jack. It read "1999 Burkett Reunion", and on each end were pictures of (Left), our great-grandparents, William Wesley and Margaret Landrum Burkett. (Right) the Burkett family picture taken on Robert and Rebecca's front porch. Polaroid pictures were taken of each family. The picture was placed on a family sheet, where each person in the photo signed their name (including the very young children).

After receiving their name badges, they joined others in the dining area for refreshments.

Mixer:

Mid-morning JoAnn (Callie's daughter) realized she hadn't used the planned 'mixer'... too late, as their were no strangers now. Later in the day JoAnn and Rosemary found various ways to award the 'mixer' prizes. Almost everyone received a gift.

The Hallmark Room:

Rosemary, a Hallmark employee, had been collecting discontinued and other items which were placed in boxes around the room. Everyone was invited to take a shopping bag and fill it. Great selections and the price was right.

Photographers:

Rosemary had arranged for photographers to arrive mid-morning, and late afternoon for pictures of all of us together. She provided the Burkett Reunion pictures. (B&B History, pg. 130.)

Then there was Ralph (husband of Virginia, Callie's daughter) Buerer... Now there is a no-nonsense, organized photographer, with many years of experience. He had a list of the groups he wanted, and like Santa Claus, checked it twice. When he said Stand Here... please, and say 'cheese', we did.

Albums, etc.:

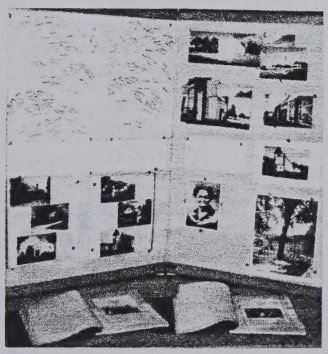
There were on display a Brock Family History, by Robert L. Brock (Our Origin in Switzerland), a book about the Texas Burketts, the Burkett-Brock Families History, the record of Military History of Donald William Burkett, by his daughter Pat Burkett Stempski, three albums and a brick from Grandmother Burkett's front yard.

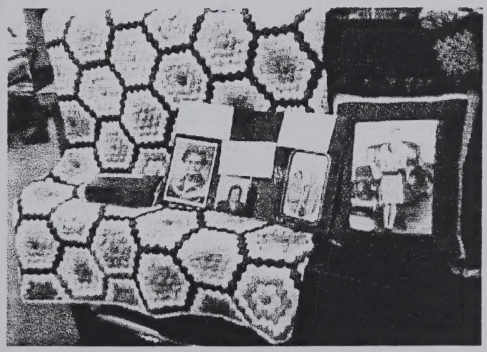
As you know, Virginia has been requesting your family's pictures for several months. She assembled a huge album of Burkett pictures, starting with her personal collection. It was heartwarming to see the great and great-great grandchildren enjoying this album. Thanks for all of the pictures you sent to Virginia for inclusion in the album.

Pat shared two albums with us. And from her collection we are adding the stories of her grandparents, Will & Erma in the B&B History. (Pg. 132.) She has a unique interest in collecting stories about her ancestors and relatives. This is her method of collecting family stories;

Pat would send one of her Mom's sisters an article on radio days, and ask what she remembered about the early days of radio, then she would take her response and send it to another sister. Then repeat again to a third sister. They all jogged each others memory, and she ended up with some fascinating unexpected results. She was intrigued at how popular boxing seemed to be in the 1920's and '30's, so popular even six to ten-year-old girls were tuning in to hear the fights. One of her Dad's (Don) earliest radio memories is how a loudspeaker was set up outside the post office, where groups of men could gather to listen to the fight being broadcast. Later he said, when every household had a radio you could walk down the street on a summer evening, and never miss a word of the President's speech, or a popular radio program, because every household would be listening.

Displays:





Virginia provided a family tree for us to ponder (that took a lot of patience to draw and we appreciated her effort.) Also she had a LaHarpe, Kansas display. Pat had taken pictures of the Main Street when she visited LaHarpe last summer with her folks, which were uniquely photographed and taped together, to show the location of buildings. Not many, but a few would have been standing during Grandmother Burkett's time. Virginia also displayed some LaHarpe High School Yearbooks, which listed the Bowens (Callie's family) who had attended school there.

Virginia also shared with us a four-generation display, including pictures and a quilt which Grandmother Burkett had pieced for her, along with an afghan her mother (Callie) had made, and a pillow her daughter Diane had made, featuring an actual photograph of Virginia and Ralph during their courtship. You could see they were in love.

"ONLY A DAD"

By Edgar A. Guest

Only a "Dad" with a tired face,
  Coming home from the daily race,
Bringing little of gold or fame,
  To show how well he has "played the game,"
But glad in his heart that his own rejoice
  To see him come, and to hear his voice.

Only a "Dad" with a brood of four,
  One of ten million men or more,
Plodding along in the daily strife,
  Bearing the whips and scorns of life
With never a whimper of pain or hate,
  For the sake of those who at home await.

Only a "Dad" neither rich nor proud,
  Merely one of the surging crowd
Toiling, striving, from day to day,
  Facing whatever may come his way;
Silent, whenever the harsh condemn,
  And bearing it all for the love of them.

Only a "Dad" but he gave his all
  To smooth the way for his children small.
Doing, with courage stern and grim,
  The deeds that his father did for him.
This is the line that for him I pen,
  Only a "Dad," but the best of men.

ROY AND FRANK GIFFIN VISIT SISTERS AFTER TWENTY-SEVEN YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Giffin and daughter, Mrs. Edward Knowles and Frank Giffin returned home last Saturday from a 1,500 motor trip that took them through Missouri, Kansas, and Oklahoma. On the trip the Giffin brothers visited two sisters that they had not seen for twenty-seven years. The sisters are Mrs. Harve Brock at La Harpe, Kan., and Mrs. Mae Brock at Blackwell, Okla.

Their first stop was at La Harpe and accompanied by Mrs. Brock they went to Dunlap, Kan., where they visited the cemetery where their parents were buried. From there they went to Blackwell, and the gathering of the brothers and sisters after a lapse of twenty-seven years was a joyous one. Samuel Cook, 87 years old uncle of the Giffins and Brocks was a guest at a dinner given for them.

While in Backwell, Mrs. Knowles visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Walcher. Mrs Walcher is a cousin of Mrs. Knowles.

They also visited at Medford, Okla., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Northcutt. Mr. Northcutt is sheriff of that county and his wife is a cousin of the Giffins.

ovements of the Nineteenth Cen-orked under severe hardships with-t finances, without the right to cial ostracism and the fact that ey then were living in a man's orld.

Today all that is changed. Now
t is in many ways a woman's world omen control the purse-strongs of ial power today than ever before n history. In many ways, they are oing less with their power than did ay.

Achievement of many social reorms and of the right to vote may ave caused women to think that he good fight had been won and at they could retire to placid conntment in an arm-chair.

Women sought and achieved equa-ty with men. Flushed with their ew-found freedom they pushed on o achieve equality in the unworthy

he bar stools alongside the men.

But all that is changing. Women ay prattle of "freedom" — when hey love — husband or child — and omen soon demand a return to the bsolute code of Christian living.

He was seven years old when the family came to the United States and settled on the property west of Peace, (now Sterling) KS where his mother homesteaded. That land was "home" for Charles for 70 years. When hard times came, the mortgage was foreclosed. After sale of personal property Charles and Minnie went to Tacoma, WA where their daughter Edna lived. It was war time (WWII). Charles went to work at age 77 as a clean-up man at Todd Pacific Shipyards in Tacoma. It was a new life. He enjoyed the work and the regular paychecks. He worked until the war ended - long enough to receive small Social Security checks. He could then return to his garden.

Dear Gloria,

I am looking for a cousin, Connie Ray Goerke and was told that you might know where I could contact her. I received your address from Carolyn Goerke Metzner of Blackwell. Actually, my mother, Eileen Brock Walcher who also lives in Blackwell is a friend of your mother and she received got your address. I am hoping you can help me.

Connie's father, Henry Milford Brock was a cousin. I corresponded with Connie's mother, Edna Goerke Brock several years ago, but know that she has passed away now. Edna was working on the Goerke family history and was trying to contact Steve or Beth Ann Brock, my mother's nephew and niece.

Several Brock cousins are now researching the Brock family history and would like to include Connie's parents information and correspond with Connie.

If you know Connie's address, I hope you will forward this letter or ask her to contact me. I appreciate you help with this matter. I am enclosing a self addressed stamped envelope for your convenience.

Very sincerely,

Barbara

Dear Melba

I will begin this on Thursday, but will come back to it tomorrow and get it in the mail to you. It was so good to talk with you last evening. Now to review what I was calling about: pictures from Roy Williams. I received an email from Roy in Montana, grandson of Aunt Lula and Phon Williams. He sent me and Ann Neal many pictures that he had received from a Fitzpatrick cousin and does not know who they are. He was hoping that I might help to identify them. I knew one of the men was my grandfather, Milford Milligan Brock; but the rest I am at a loss as to who they are!

I have numbered the pictures, so if you can identify a numbered picture--just say # 3 is ??? You do not need to return the pictures, I have made a copy and numbered them the same as yours are numbered. However, if you wish a copy on photo paper, please let me know and I will print and mail to you.

We also talked about you making a copy of what you sent to Viola (please enclose her full name and address in Amarillo) and sending me a copy. In Myrtle's family, I only have Roy and Ray, so now know there is also Viola.

I am also sending you a print out of the Lafayette Brock families information I have on my computer. I have started with Heini Brack and have continued down through the 13th generation. I did this because I have references several people who have given me information about different branches. I know you have given me a lot of information, but hope you will read through this and add information I don't have, then make a copy of added info and mail me the copy. I have enclosed some $ for you to use for making copies and postage.

Now I am hoping you will share with me is the birth dates & places, death dates & places, marriage dates & places and obituaries for the Emery and Brock families that you have. I know that may asking a lot, but hope you can fill in some of the information for me. I am looking forward to corresponding with Viola and hope she will also share.

Know Aunt Annie and Aunt Polly both married Emery brothers, just as Uncle Harve and my grandfather Milt married Giffin sisters. That is why I have more information on those families. So am hoping you will share with me. It has been so nice knowing you and Ann and Roy in families I did not know growing up. I know my grandparents would be so proud to know that we have sought each other out and correspond with each other! Ann and Roy have found a few others along the way.

Both Ann and Roy have new email addresses: Roy is – roywil@rbbmt.org and Ann is nealrl@sbcglobal.net. The Internet has allowed us to keep in touch so quickly, we forget about mailing as we should. I am one who is better to pick up the phone than do writing. I did remember that your daughter has email and you said she worked for Sprint. My niece also works for Sprint in KC. Her name is Lisa Cole Blyze, she is the oldest daughter of my sister, Janice Walcher Cole.

Hope you are doing well and look forward to hearing from you about the pictures and the receiving copies of the family information. I think of you often just am remiss in calling or writing.

MUCH LOVE,

Sylvan Dale Community in Move To Build Addition to Church

About 65 years ago the people of the community five and one-half miles southwest of Nevada, now known as Sylvan Dale, felt the need for religious services there and began having Sunday school and preaching at the schoolhouse. This old school has been known as the Scroghem School, named for the man who donated the land, E. M. Scroghem, and more commonly as the Scrappy School, but sometime in later years was renamed Sylvan Dale.

The Sunday school was union in character because of the differences in the beliefs of the people, and because no one church was strong enough to maintain a Sunday school and church. At various times the preachers of the Missionary Baptist, Freewill Baptist, Pentecostal Holiness, and others held services there.

In 1929, a group of 15 charter members organized the Sylvan Dale Missionary Baptist Church as an arm of the Pine Street Baptist Church in Nevada. Of those original members, five are still active workers in the church. The Rev. J. M. Baucom was the first pastor and Frank Emery the first deacon.

In the beginning, services were held once a month, but in 1949 the church progressed to half-time services, and since 1951 has had services every Sunday. Wednesday night prayer meeting is also a part of the church activity, and for several years a Vacation Bible School has been held. At present there is a church membership of 45 and a Sunday school enrollment of 65.

When the Sylvan Dale School District voted itself into the Nevada School District prior to the reorganization, it became possible for the church to purchase the building from District R-5 and the land from heirs of Mr. Scroghem.

At present the Sylvan Dale Baptist Church is engaged in a building program to enlarge their crowded quarters. The proposed plans include an addition on the east end of the present building, 20 by 40 feet, which will enlarge the present auditorium and add four Sunday school class rooms, and a new entry-way on the west end with a vestibule and spire. Much materials and labor have been donated to aid in this work, but the work is just beginning. With a membership made up of farming people, work has been done during weather unfavorable to field work. It is hoped to have the new building completed in time to dedicate it in celebration of the 25th anniversary of the founding of the church.

The Rev. I. Eugene Hays is the present pastor, having come to this pastorate in June 1951. Mr. Hays was educated in Fair Play grade and high schools, and received his college work in Springfield Teachers College. For several years he served as pastor in North Missouri. In May 1945 he came back to Southern Missouri and was pastor of the Liberal Baptist Church for five years. He also served as pastor at Bronaugh, and a few months at both Caplinger Mills and Deerfield Baptist Churches. He now lives on a farm northeast of Moundville with his wife and three daughters, Evelyn, 9, Phyllis, 7, and Veda, 5.

vandale School Began Serving a 100 Years Ago In Log Building

netimes called Scroghem , sometimes called ,ppy school, Sylvandale ,ool was started approximate- 100 years ago in a building of og construction.

Later the school facilities were proved by the erection of a me building in the pasture est of D. T. Brooks's present ome. Due to a fire in the year 886, the frame building was destroyed and the present schoolhouse was constructed the following year.

In recent years the building was improved by the laying of hardwood floors and the past summer roofing was put on the school house and coal shed.

* * *

FOR THE HEALTH and convenience of the students, electricity was installed in Sylvandale school in December, 1948. This made it possible for the purchase of a two-burner electric hot plate from which the students could be served warm lunches. A large electric clock was also purchased from the proceeds of the annual pie supper, as well as the hot plate, several religious pictures and six small chairs.

After the purchase of the chairs each of the pupils identified his chair by his name put on with a wood-burning set.

Mrse. Kathryn Nichols has been the teacher at Sylvandale for the past two years. She entertained the seven children who were enrolled in the school with birthday parties for each child during the school year.

* * *

DURING the last week of school this spring Mrs. Nichols took the students on a picnic serving food furnished from a part of the proceeds of the pie supper. The students and their parents also participated in a school dinner on the last day of school, as had been the custom for a good many years.

Mrs. Nichols will be replaced this year by Mrs. Ralph Woods of route 3, Nevada. Two boys and seven girls are expected to be in attendance.

KINNIE (K.A.) EMERY
